Full Circle David L. Cisco, 2010-04-01 An Apollo Technician's Journey Through American History David L. Cisco looked at the lunar module with its paper thin walls and countless switches and dials and had a moment of doubt Could this thing really take people to the moon In 1969 Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin answered that question But the astronauts had help an unsung 400 000 member workforce made the Apollo program and America's race to the final frontier a reality As a thirteen year old junkyard forklift operator Cisco never dreamt of being a part of American history With the chaos of the 1960s swirling around him this biracial young man decided to give up life in New York for a future as an Apollo technician in Houston Moving into the corporate world Cisco hired some of the first female and African American airline pilots in the United States He and his wife later launched a successful travel agency Along the way he was elected to public office and worked tirelessly for charity and his community earning the kid from the junkyard a trip to the White House Destination Moon Rod Pyle, 2005-11-01 The Apollo space program was the largest technological undertaking of all time and led to the greatest adventure of the 20th century Born of the cold war it was moved forward by the passion of 100 000 workers and 20 billion over ten years Over that time 12 courageous individuals stepped out onto the lunar surface and thus changed the history of humankind changing us into a space faring civilization And then it was gone Three years 9 missions six men on the surface of the moon They explored they experimented and they came home Here in one volume are the transcribed voices of the participants with expert commentary and retrospective reminiscences explained and put into context From the triumphs of Neil Armstrong to Buzz Aldrin to the near disaster of Apollo 13 Houston we've got a problem it's all here the science the adventure the glory the letdown One of the great stories of humankind's reaching for the stars Reaching for the Moon Hal Marcovitz, 2001 Surveys the achievements of the Apollo program and the astronauts and other individuals who made the program a success Team Moon Catherine Thimmesh, 2006-06-26 This behind the scenes look at the first Apollo moon landing has the feel of a public television documentary in its breadth and detail Publishers Weekly starred review Here is a rare perspective on a story we only thought we knew For Apollo 11 the first moon landing is a story that belongs to many not just the few and famous It belongs to the seamstress who put together twenty two layers of fabric for each space suit To the engineers who created a special heat shield to protect the capsule during its fiery reentry It belongs to the flight directors camera designers software experts suit testers telescope crew aerospace technicians photo developers engineers and navigators Gathering direct quotes from some of these folks who worked behind the scenes Catherine Thimmesh reveals their very human worries and concerns Culling NASA transcripts national archives and stunning NASA photos from Apollo 11 she captures not only the sheer magnitude of this feat but also the dedication ingenuity and perseverance of the greatest team ever the team that worked to first put man on that great gray rock in the sky Winner of the Robert F.
