Movie Roadshows Kim R. Holston, 2013-01-01 This work examines a film distribution system paralleling the rise of early features and persisting until 1972 when Man of La Mancha was the final roadshow to require reserved seating. Synonymous with Hollywood's star-studded premieres, roadshows were longer and cost more than regular features, making the experience similar to attending the legitimate theater. Roadshows often epic in subject matter, played selected theaters usually only in major urban centers until demand decreased. By the 1960s, they were musical overtures, intermissions, entre-acte, and exit music, and souvenir programs for sale in the lobby. Throughout the text are recollections by people who attended roadshows, including actor John Kerr and actresses Barbara Eden and Ingrid Pitt. The focus is on roadshows released in the United States, but an appendix identifies international roadshows and films forecast but not released as roadshows. Included are plots, contemporary critical reaction, premiere dates, production background, and methods of promotion, i.e., the ballyhoo.

Focus On: 100 Most Popular Nonlinear Narrative Films Wikipedia contributors, Focus On: 100 Most Popular 2010s Adventure Films Wikipedia contributors, Box Office, 1958 In Theaters Everywhere Brian Hannan, 2019-01-09 Conflicts among Hollywood studios and exhibitors have been going on for years. At their heart are questions about how films should be released, where, when, and at what speed. Both sides of this disagreement are losers, with exhibitors using the law via various Consent Decrees and studios retaliating by tightly controlling output. In the Silent Era, movies were not released nearly as widely as they are now. This book tells the story of how the few became the many. It explores the contraction of the release cycle, the maximization of the marketing dollar, and the democratization of consumer access. It also offers a comprehensive list of wide releases and rebuts much of what previous scholars have found.
