Developing of Cultural Identity and Perception of Foreign Cultures Martin Strang, 2005-01-20 Essay from the year 2004 in the subject Communications Intercultural Communication grade High Distinction Macquarie University Centre for International Communication course Cross Cultural Communication language English abstract In this critical analysis the question of how people develop their cultural identity and perceive foreign cultures will be answered This is done through an analysis of the following points First different definitions or attempted definitions of culture are critically regarded Then the role of identity in cross cultural communication is examined with focus on the creation of cultural identities just as different communication styles related to specific identities In the third part of this paper the roles of stereotypes in cross cultural communications are discussed with reference to their functions in society Finally the topic of nonverbal communication especially attempts to describe nonverbal communication of a specific culture is examined In the conclusion the results of this paper are discussed and summarised The essay refers to the movie The Quiet American in footnotes to illustrate theoretical aspects with appropriate examples Culture is a complex and constantly changing phenomenon so definitions of culture are quite numerous and differing Brislin 2000 p 23 refers to the definition of Triandis Kurowski Tecktiel they are shared by people who communicate in the same language and live in the same time place Even though this definition is obviously general it cannot be seen as one accepted by all researchers in cross cultural communication Brislin 2000 p 30 tries to define culture by constructing a checklist consisting of twelve points in order to prove if a specific behaviour or ideal is part of one s culture or not This checklist can be seen as a practical tool for people dealing with cross cultural settings but it is hardly a theoretical definition Raymond Williams 1962 cited in Lull 1995 p 130 defines culture as a particular way of life which is shared by a community The definition of Williams emphasises the dynamic character of culture which changes when we as members of our own culture change the way we talk dress or work At the same time Williams definition makes no distinction between superior or inferior cultures furthermore everybody has their specific way of life Topics in Spanish Linguistic Perceptions Luis Alfredo Ortiz-López, Eva-María Suárez Büdenbender, 2021-09-29 Topics in Spanish Linguistic

Identity and Status in the Translational Professions Rakefet Sela-Sheffy, Miriam Shlesinger, 2011. This volume contributes to the emerging research on the social formation of translators and interpreters as specific occupational groups. Despite the rising academic interest in sociological perspectives in Translation Studies, relatively little research has so far been devoted to translators' social background, status, struggles, and sense of self. The articles assembled here zoom in on the groups of individuals who perform the complex translating and/or interpreting tasks, thereby creating their own space of cultural production. Cutting across varied translatorial and geographical arenas, they reflect a view of the interrelatedness between the macro-level question of professional status and micro-level aspects of practitioners' identity. Addressing central theoretical issues relating to translators' habitus and role perception, as well as methodological challenges of using qualitative and quantitative measures, this endeavor also contributes to the critical discourse on translators' agency and ethics and to questions of reformulating their social role. The contributions to this volume were originally published in Translation and Interpreting Studies 4.2 (2009) and 5.1 (2010).
