Gehl, 2025. Move Slowly and Build Bridges tells the story of activists, software developers, artists, and everyday people who have built the fediverse, a large noncentralized alternative social media system. In contrast to big tech corporations like Meta, TikTok, or X, the fediverse is comprised of thousands of small, independent communities who use a powerful internet protocol to communicate with one another. These small communities can govern themselves and moderate content at the human scale, in stark contrast to the global and advertiser-friendly interests of Meta or X. The Mastodon network is perhaps the most notable and successful platform in the fediverse. Founded in 2016, Mastodon has positioned itself as an alternative to Twitter, one that can be completely under the control of its members, from its daily operations to its underlying software. Making a noncentralized, ethically run social media system is no easy task. The people building the fediverse have faced burnout, bigotry, angry debates, and death threats. And they face constant nagging doubts: can we really do this? Can noncentralized social media survive? Can we all of us have our own social media? In this thoroughly researched book, Robert W. Gehl argues that the answer is yes, but it won't be easy. Facts not Fakes: Tackling Disinformation, Strengthening Information Integrity OECD, 2024-03-04.
