Mass Extinctions

What is the biological significance of mass extinctions?

Why?

Evidence suggests that five mass extinctions have occurred throughout the history of the Earth—the most famous of which led to the extinction of the dinosaurs. Scientists are still studying the causes of these catastrophic events. What can we learn from mass extinctions, and what is their impact on the diversity of life forms found on Earth?

Model 1 – Extinction Over Time

The Sixth Extinction: by Elizabeth Kolbert | Key Takeaways, Analysis & Review Instaread,2015-09-15 The Sixth Extinction by Elizabeth Kolbert Key Takeaways Analysis Review Preview The Sixth Extinction is a book by award winning journalist Elizabeth Kolbert In this book the author demonstrates that species are dying out at a rate comparable to the previous mass extinctions and if the trend of global warming deforestation and pollution continues in its present course the numbers of extinct species will meet or exceed that rate of destruction This event will include the extinction of humanity What this means is that the current loss of life today will soon justify the term The Sixth Extinction a mass extinction like the one that destroyed the dinosaurs 65 million years ago When humans originated about 100 000 years ago they began to hunt some species into extinction Their ability to outcompete other early hominids for food led to the extinction of those species including Neanderthals The extinction of species picked up steam when humans began transforming great swaths of forest and plains into farmland about 10 000 years ago PLEASE NOTE This is key takeaways and analysis of the book and NOT the original book Inside this Instaread of The Sixth Extinction Overview of the book Important People Key Takeaways Analysis of Key Takeaways Catastrophes and Lesser Calamities Anthony Hallam,2005-07-14 This is a book about the dramatic periods in the Earth s history called mass extinctions short periods by geological standards when life nearly died out on Earth The most famous is the mass extinction that happened about 65 million years ago and that caused the death of the dinosaurs But that was not the worst mass extinction that honour goes to the extinction at the end of the Permian Period about 250 million years ago when over 90% of life is thought to have become extinct What caused these catastrophes Was it the effects of a massive meteorite impact There is evidence for such an impact about 65 million years ago Or was it a period of massive volcanic activity There is evidence in the rocks of huge lava flows at periods that match several of the mass extinctions Was it something to do with climate change and sea level Or was it a combination of some or all of these The question has been haunting geologists for a number of years and it forms one of the most exciting areas of research in geology today In this book Tony Hallam a distinguished geologist and writer looks at all the different theories and also what the study of mass extinctions might tell us about the future If climate change is a key factor we may well as some scientists have suggested be in a period of mass extinction of our own making Mass Extinctions and Their Aftermath ,1997-09-11 Why do mass extinctions occur The demise of the dinosaurs has been discussed exhaustively but has never been out into the context of other extinction events This is the first systematic review of the mass extinctions of all organisms plant and animal terrestrial and marine that have occurred in the history of life This includes the major crisis 250 million years ago which nearly wiped out all life on Earth By examining current paleontological geological and sedimentological evidence of environmental changes the cases for explanations based on climate change marine regressions asteroid or comet impact anoxia and volcanic eruptions are all critically evaluated Mass Extinctions and Their Aftermath Anthony Hallam,P. B. Wignall,1997

Complements the many popular and often sensational accounts multi author volumes and studies on a particular mass extinction with a focuses scientific investigation of all the known mass extinctions with sufficient technical detail to excite geologists and paleontologists Discusses the Big Five one late in each of the Ordovician Devonian Permian Triassic and the famous Cretaceous that saw the end of the Dinosaurs and minor mass extinctions from the early Cambrian the Cenozoic Also examines the current paleontological geological and sedimentological evidence of environmental change and sets out the cases for causes by climate change marine regressions asteroid or comet impact anoxia and volcanic eruptions Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Extinctions in the History of Life Paul D. Taylor,2004-11-11 Extinction is the ultimate fate of all biological species over 99 percent of the species that have ever inhabited the Earth are now extinct The long fossil record of life provides scientists with crucial information about when species became extinct which species were most vulnerable to extinction and what processes may have brought about extinctions in the geological past Key aspects of extinctions in the history of life are here reviewed by six leading palaeontologists providing a source text for geology and biology undergraduates as well as more advanced scholars Topical issues such as the causes of mass extinctions and how animal and plant life has recovered from these cataclysmic events that have shaped biological evolution are dealt with This helps us to view the biodiversity crisis in a broader context and shows how large scale extinctions have had profound and long lasting effects on the Earth s biosphere

Mass-Extinction Debates William Glen,1994-11-01 The history of life on Earth is punctuated by half a dozen puzzling mass extinctions that constitute the benchmarks of the geologic time scale These great breaks in the continuity of the fossil record have invited a wide array of scientific speculation The most thoroughly studied of the mass extinctions occurred 65 million years ago when most life on Earth incl the dinosaurs perished Two rival hypotheses have emerged to account for this catastrophic event the impactor hypothesis sees the earth bombarded with deadly meteorites while the competing volcanist hypothesis evokes gigantic volcanic eruptions This book examines the arguments and behavior of the scientists who have been locked in conflict over the competing hypotheses     Catastrophes and Lesser Calamities Tony Hallam,2005-07-14 This is a book about the dramatic periods in the Earth s history called mass extinctions short periods by geological standards when life nearly died out on Earth The most famous is the mass extinction that happened about 65 million years ago and that caused the death of the dinosaurs But that was not the worst mass extinction that honour goes to the extinction at the end of the Permian Period about 250 million years ago when over 90% of life is thought to have become extinct What caused these catastrophes Was it the effects of a massive meteorite impact There is evidence for such an impact about 65 million years ago Or was it a period of massive volcanic activity There is evidence in the rocks of huge lava flows at periods that match several of the mass extinctions Was it something to do with climate change and sea level Or was it a combination of some or all of these The question has been haunting geologists for a number of years and it forms one of the most exciting areas of research in geology today In this book Tony Hallam a distinguished geologist and writer looks at all the different theories and also what the study of mass extinctions might tell us about the future If climate change is a key factor we may well as some scientists have suggested be in a period of mass extinction of our own making     Mass Extinctions, Volcanism, and Impacts Thierry Adatte,David P.G. and regular disappearance of large numbers of species from the fossil record are one of the mostly keenly contested and controversial debates in contemporary science. A great deal of research effort has gone into the topic and certain claims, notably that mass extinction eras display a periodicity of 24 million years, have caused great interest and disagreement.

Evolutionary Catastrophes: the Science of Mass Extinction V. Courtillot, 1999     Extinctions Michael Hannah, 2021

Are we now entering a mass extinction event? What can mass extinctions in Earth's history tell us about the Anthropocene? What do mass extinction events look like and how does life on Earth recover from them? The fossil record reveals periods when biodiversity exploded and short intervals when much of life was wiped out in mass extinction events. In comparison with these ancient events, today's biotic crisis hasn't yet reached the level of extinction to be called a mass extinction. But we are certainly in crisis and current parallels with ancient mass extinction events are profound and deeply worrying. Humanity's actions are applying the same sorts of pressures on similar scales that in the past pushed the Earth System out of equilibrium and triggered mass extinction events. Analysis of the fossil record suggests that we still have some time to avert this disaster, but we must act now.     When Life Nearly Died Michael J. Benton, 2003
