  Reading McLuhan Reading Paula McDowell,2023-02-21 Sixty years after Understanding Media Marshall McLuhan remains one of the best known and most influential intellectuals of the twentieth century Far beyond academia readers and non readers recognize his coinages such as the Gutenberg era the global village and the medium is the message A literary scholar by profession McLuhan was one of the first academics to recognize the new opportunities offered by radio and television to reach audiences beyond the readerships of scholarly journals His talks and appearances ushered in public intellectual debate concerning the electronic age Although his reputation waned in the 1970s the recent making available to the public of his extraordinary personal library of some six thousand books enables new kinds of analyses of McLuhan as a reader thinker and cultural force The essays here focus not so much on his media theory per se as on the habits and practices that animated his reading and on the larger questions of what reading and not reading mean We don t need to agree with everything McLuhan says to make valuable use of his work New resources offer us an unprecedented opportunity to revisit one fallible human reader whose texts and ideas are good to think with and against This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Textual Practice   A History of Literacy Education Robert J. Tierney,P. David Pearson,2021 In this volume two notable scholars trace the monumental shifts in theory research and practice related to reading education and literacy with particular attention to what they consider the central goal of literacy making meaning Each section describes a specific epoch including a brief snapshot of how the reader of that period is envisioned and characterized by researchers and teachers as well as a deep discussion of the ideas and contextual events of that era These developmental waves are organized in rough historical sequence by a series of shifts in underlying theoretical and scholarly lenses from the behavioral to the psycholinguistic to the cognitive to the sociocultural to the critical to the multimodal to the global The book closes with a discussion of the various research frames and methodological approaches that paralleled these developments Throughout there is a profound recognition that all research and practice are ultimately directed toward how students make meaning from sound to letter to word to ideas and images Book Features Animates some of the revolutionary developments related to reading education and literacy in modern times Each development is accompanied by a discussion of the aspirational reader that sets the stage for contemplating these shifts and their significance Traces the research and theoretical developments to illustrate the origins of the shifts and their influences Supported by a website with video lectures
