Changing Places:

The Provision of Public Toilets House of Commons Communities and Local Government, 2008-10-22 Public toilets matter to everybody regardless of their age class ethnic origin gender mental ability or physical ability and they are even more important to certain sections of society including older people disabled people women families with young children and tourists While the Public Health Act 1936 gives local authorities a power to provide public toilets it imposes no duty to do so and this lack of compulsion together with a perception of nuisance associated with them has arguably resulted in a steady decline in the provision of public toilets in recent years This decline needs to be addressed The Committee supports the Government's Strategic Guide on the provision of public toilets Improving Public Access to Better Quality Toilets 2008 which highlighted existing powers at the disposal of local authorities that can be used to improve public access to toilets Some local authorities have developed strategies for the provision of clean safe accessible toilets including partnerships with local businesses such as pubs cafes and shops that make their own toilets available to non customers Other local authorities are less committed which has led to great disparities between different towns and regions Some local authorities may have used the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 as an excuse to close public toilets rather than bring them up to the standards required by the Act This report seeks to consider the evidence and to produce simple and practical recommendations to improve this important social amenity The overriding recommendation is that the Government imposes a duty on local authorities to develop a public toilet strategy which should involve consultation with the local community for their own area

Giving Preservation a History Max Page, Randall Mason, 2004 Table of contents Historic Preservation & the Imagined West Judy Mattivi Morley, 2006 She draws on extensive interviews city council proceedings and historic plans and photographs to construct a detailed picture of how these districts originally looked and were used how they were renovated and to what ends they were marketed Inclusive Environments and Access to Commercial Property Adrian Tagg, 2024-09-03 This book presents and examines the challenges and compromises required to deliver inclusivity in the existing commercial built environment and the socio economic benefits that could result from successfully delivering it To illuminate the advantages of an inclusive environment to property owners investors and service providers the book covers the history of disability and evolution of the legislation and examines the demographics and types of disability to question the one size blanket approach that currently exists to providing access Delving further into the characteristics of the commercial property sectors and individual disability specific requirements experienced commercial building surveyor Adrian Tagg analyses the contradictions in the existing legislation to establish examples of design compromise or reasonable adjustments He seeks to contextualise public and commercial attitudes to disability and go further to demystify the term reasonable adjustment which is used currently as a tool of compromise in providing access The aim is to assess disability specific requirements for access as well as adopt a simplistic approach to developing access solutions to the existing built
