Spirit(s) and Chinese Religiosity Jacob Chengwei Feng,2025-12-08 This open access book offers a fresh perspective on the history of Chinese Christianity retelling it through the lens of Pentecost Acts 2 to illuminate the rise of Pentecostal and charismatic Christianity in China from the 20th century onward Parting from traditional academic studies of Chinese Pentecostalism the author departs from beginning with the early 20th century introduction of the Pentecostal movement to China and instead examines the deeper historical and theological roots of Chinese Christianity In identifying this gap the author argues that China's rich religious and cultural context shaped by a pantheon of spirits and ghosts provided a fertile ground for the acceptance and flourishing of modern Pentecostal thought and practice Through this innovative analysis the book connects Pentecostalism's global emergence with the unique spiritual landscape of China offering new insights into both Chinese and Pentecostal Christian history It is an important read for scholars of religious history and theology

The China-Japan Conflict over the Senkaku/Diaoyu Islands Anna Costa, 2017-09-27 This book examines the foreign and security policies adopted by China and Japan since the 1970s in their competition over the Senkaku Diaoyu Islands in the East China Sea It charts the development of a dispute that has become a potential flashpoint for conflict between the two countries The book explains that while increasing nationalism in both China and Japan helps to fuel and sustain the dispute a key factor is that the leaderships in both countries find competition over the islands to be a convenient vehicle supporting their wider approach to foreign and security policy which is becoming increasingly assertive and potentially belligerent Continental Powers and Naval Development Brian C. Chao, 2025-10-16 This book examines how continental great powers have attempted to develop and wield strong navies since 1801 Continental Powers and Naval Development argues that a continental great power's ability to build and effectively use a strong navy is greatly affected by two factors a naval force design capable of executing national strategy strategy coherence and the deployment of that navy to places or for purposes that minimize the dominant naval power's threat perception threat diffusion Each factor is deceptively difficult for a continental great power to achieve but through an analysis of four historical case studies this book shows how both factors are vital not just for successful naval development but for keeping the peace among great powers Finally it highlights how states commonly thought of as unnatural naval powers can nonetheless achieve their political objectives at sea This book will be of much interest to students of naval history maritime strategy and International Relations Thirty-two New Takes on Taiwan Cinema Emilie Yueh-yu Yeh, Darrell William Davis, Wenchi Lin, Wenqi Lin, 2022-12-22
