Intensive Care Medicine (ICM) is a medical specialty where doctors from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds manage the medical care of critically ill patients. Training and continuing education for these doctors involves the acquisition and maintenance of the knowledge, skills and attitudes which allow them to manage the most severely ill. In order to improve and harmonise the quality of intensive care medicine, the European Society of Intensive Care Medicine (ESICM) is producing a distance learning programme: Patient-Centred Acute Care Training (PACT) for the training of doctors working in intensive care and acute medicine.

The PACT Programme - General Aspects

The PACT programme is modular in design and when completed (in 2005) will contain 45 modules (see Table 1) of which around 23 modules will be published by 2004. The modules are divided into four broad areas: 1. Clinical problems; 2. Organ specific problems; 3. Skills and techniques and 4. Professionalism (see Table 1).

PACT is being produced at the outset in written and electronic forms. The electronic medium allows

The Organization of Critical Care Damon C. Scales,Gordon D. Rubenfeld,2014-06-18 The origin of modern intensive care units ICUs has frequently been attributed to the widespread provision of mechanical ventilation within dedicated hospital areas during the 1952 Copenhagen polio epidemic However modern ICUs have developed to treat or monitor patients who have any severe life threatening disease or injury These patients receive specialized care and vital organ assistance such as mechanical ventilation cardiovascular support or hemodialysis ICU patients now typically occupy approximately 10% of inpatient acute care beds yet the structure and organization of these ICUs can be quite different across hospitals In The Organization of Critical Care An Evidence Based Approach to Improving Quality leaders provide a concise evidence based review of ICU organizational factors that have been associated with improved patient or other outcomes The topics covered are grouped according to four broad domains 1 the organization structure and staffing of an ICU 2 organizational approaches to improving quality of care in an ICU 3 integrating ICU care with other healthcare provided within the hospital and across the broader healthcare system and 4 international perspectives on critical care delivery Each chapter summarizes a different aspect of ICU organization and targets individual clinicians and healthcare decision makers A long overdue contribution to the field The Organization of Critical Care An Evidence Based Approach to Improving Quality is an indispensable guide for all clinicians and health administrators concerned with achieving state of the art outcomes for intensive care
