Leaving the field Robin James Smith, Sara Delamont, 2023-07-04 Leaving the field gathers various accounts of ethnographers leaving their field sites In doing so the book offers original insights into an often overlooked aspect of the research process the ethnographic exit The chapters variously consider situations in which the researcher must extricate themselves from field relations deal with unexpected or imperfect ends to projects or manage situations in which the field becomes hard to leave Whilst the chapters are firmly focussed on ethnographic exits they also provide more general methodological insights into the conduct of fieldwork and the writing of ethnography as well as questioning established notions of the field as a bounded setting the researcher straightforwardly visits and then leaves The book highlights the importance of recognising ethnographic exits as an essential part of the research process

Interpretation and Method Dvora Yanow, Peregrine Schwartz-Shea, 2006 Demonstrates the relevance rigor and creativity of interpretive research methodologies for political science and its various sub fields Designed for use in a course on interpretive research methods this book situates methods questions within the context of methodological questions the character of social realities and their know ability

Harassed Rebecca Hanson, Patricia Richards, 2019-05-29 Researchers frequently experience sexualized interactions sexual objectification and harassment as they conduct fieldwork These experiences are often left out of ethnographers tales from the field and remain unaddressed within qualitative literature Harassed argues that the androcentric racist and colonialist epistemological foundations of ethnographic methodology contribute to the silence surrounding sexual harassment and other forms of violence Rebecca Hanson and Patricia Richards challenge readers to recognize how these attitudes put researchers at risk further the solitude experienced by researchers lead others to question the validity of their work and in turn negatively impact the construction of ethnographic knowledge To improve methodological training data collection and knowledge produced by all researchers Harassed advocates for an embodied approach to ethnography that reflexively engages with the ways in which researchers bodies shape the knowledge they produce By challenging these assumptions the authors offer an opportunity for researchers advisors and educators to consider the multiple ways in which good ethnographic research can be conducted Beyond challenging current methodological training and mentorship Harassed opens discussions about sexual harassment and violence in the social sciences in general

Transgression as a Rule Ulrich Best,2007 Whereas currently German Polish relations are marked by irritations the previous phase of politics and discourse from 1990 leading up to the EU accession of Poland was marked by an increasing stress on Europe in both countries This was connected with changing practices of cross border cooperation as well as a change in academic border studies Transgression as a Rule argues that resulting from this cross border cooperation has become a rule The actors negotiate new contradictory spaces for their actions supported by the state but partly uncomfortable with it drawing on the powerful discourse of cooperation and trying to escape from it Their practices can also inform the practices of border studies

Racing Research, Researching Race France Winddance Twine,Jonathan Warren,2000 This book is an examination of what it means to be conscious of race when one is doing research There are those who argue that just to acknowledge race is to perpetuate the biological myth of race But this book warns that is to confuse the biological with the social further arguing that the race of the researcher can be a significant factor in what information is revealed by interviewees and that this needs to be considered when planning a study or reviewing its results This book is the authors attempt to initiate a serious discussion of the potential ethical emotional analytical and methodological dilemmas generated by racial subjectivities racial ideologies and racial disparities in research

Inside Stories Kathleen B. deMarrais, 2012-12-06 Although articles reporting research studies are helpful in acquainting students with methodological approaches they often make the process look so straightforward clean and effortless It is rare to find an article that tells the real story behind the finished product By having real researchers tell their own stories of mucking around with methodological and ethical issues in qualitative research we get a more realistic human story of the process This is a collection of such stories Authors were asked to describe their own experiences with methodological and ethical struggles as they engaged in their work Each of the essays offers insight into the research approach used as well as particular issues which became apparent during the research process Key issues raised by the authors include early learnings gaining entry overlapping conflicting roles and the boundaries of these roles differential power relationships who tells the story and whose story is told ethical concerns related to confidentiality and the influence of a researcher s particular philosophy or theoretical framework on his or her research Throughout the book we see scholars whose personal stories or autobiographies intersect closely with their research projects deMarrais introduces a unique framework to help students gain an overview of qualitative research methods and the underpinnings and processes in these approaches This framework is centered on the ways we understand phenomena using qualitative research approaches that engage archival knowledge narrative knowledge or observational knowledge
