Passing Nella Larsen:

Passing Nella Larsen, 2024-02-22 Generally regarded as Nella Larsen's best work Passing was first published in 1929 but has received a lot of renewed attention because of its close examination of racial and sexual ambiguities It has achieved canonical status in many American universities Clare Kendry is living on the edge Light skinned elegant and ambitious she is married to a racist white man unaware of her African American heritage and has severed all ties to her past after deciding to pass as a white woman Clare's childhood friend Irene Redfield just as light skinned has chosen to remain within the African American community and is simultaneously allured and repelled by Clare's risky decision to engage in racial masquerade for personal and societal gain After frequenting African American centric gatherings together in Harlem Clare's interest in Irene turns into a homoerotic longing for Irene's black identity that she abandoned and can never embrace again and she is forced to grapple with her decision to pass for white in a way that is both tragic and telling About the Author Nella Larsen 1891-1964 was the author of two novels and several short stories She received a Guggenheim fellowship to write a third novel in 1930 but unable to find a publisher for it she disappeared from the literary scene and worked as a nurse

The Complete Fiction of Nella Larsen Nella Larsen, 2017-01-29 Nella Larsen was an important writer associated with the Harlem Renaissance While she was not prolific her work was powerful and critically acclaimed Collected here are both of her novels Passing and Quicksand as well as all three of her published short stories Freedom The Wrong Man and Sanctuary Quicksand was autobiographical in nature and examined a woman's need for sexual fulfillment balanced against respectability and acceptance amid a deeply religious society The novel is deeply pessimistic and ends as the protagonist is sucked into a life that is at odds with all that she desired Passing confronts the reality of racial passing The novel focuses on two childhood friends Clare and Irene both of whom are light skinned enough to pass as white who have reconnected with one another after many years apart Clare has chosen to pass while Irene has embraced her racial heritage and become an important member of her community The novel examines how people pass on many different levels and in many different ways Some forms of passing are perfectly acceptable while others can lead to disaster

American Women Writers, 1900-1945 Laurie Champion, 2000-09-30. Women writers have been traditionally excluded from literary canons and not until recently have scholars begun to rediscover or discover for the first time neglected women writers and their works. This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 American women authors who wrote between 1900 and 1945. Each entry is written by an expert contributor and discusses a particular author's biography, her major works, and themes, and the critical response to her writings. The entries close with extensive primary and secondary bibliographies, and the volume concludes with a list of works for further reading. The period surveyed by this reference is rich and diverse. Modernism and the Harlem Renaissance, two major artistic movements, occurred between 1900 and 1945, and the entries included here demonstrate the significant contributions women made to these movements. The volume as a whole strives to reflect the diversity of American culture and includes entries for African American, Native American, Mexican American, and Chinese American women. It includes well-known writers such as Willa Cather and Eudora Welty, along with more neglected ones such as Anita Scott Coleman and Sui Sin Far.

Illuminating Letters Paul C. Gutjahr, Megan L. Benton, 2001. What do we read when we read a text? The author's words, of course, but is that all? The prevailing publishing ethic has insisted that typography, the selection and arrangement of type and other visual elements on a page, should be an invisible, silent, and deferential servant to the text it conveys. This book contests that conventional point of view. Looking at texts ranging from the King James Bible to contemporary comic strips, the contributors to Illuminating Letters examine the seldom-considered but richly revealing relationships between a text's typography and its literary interpretation. The essays assume no previous typographic knowledge or expertise; instead, they invite readers primarily concerned with literary and cultural meanings to turn a more curious eye to the visual and physical forms of a specific text or genre As the contributors show closer inspection of those forms can yield fresh insights into the significance of a text s material presentation leading readers to appreciate better how presentation shapes understandings of the text s meanings and values The case studies included in the volume amplify its two overarching themes one set explores the roles of printers and publishers in manipulating willingly or not the meaning and reception of texts through typographic choices the other group examines the efforts of authors to circumvent or subvert such mediation by directly controlling the typographic presentation of their texts Together these essays demonstrate that choices about type selection and arrangement do indeed help to orchestrate textual meaning In addition to the editors contributors include Sarah A Kelen Beth McCoy Steven R Price Leon Jackson and Gene Kannenberg Jr A Companion to the Harlem Renaissance Cherene

The Relationship Between Nella Larsen's "Passing" and the Rhinelander Case Katharina Lurz, 2018-07-04 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Culture and Applied Geography grade 2.7 University of Bonn language English abstract Passing by Nella Larsen published in 1929 features the issue of racial passing in a society which segregates people of Negro descent from the dominant white American class Wall claims that Not only is Passing set in Harlem at the height of its vogue it is itself a product of the vogue Aptly then it acknowledges the opportunities as well as the risks that the more fluid racial and cultural boundaries of the period created Irene Redfield one of the two female protagonists is able to pass but still chose a life within Harlem and a coloured husband Her counterpart Clare Kendry on the contrary is completely passing by being married to a white man who does not know about her descent Still she is highly fascinated by the life Irene leads in Harlem and thus she attempts at leading a double life As Clare becomes increasingly involved in the black culture of that time she also has to fear about her husband finding out the truth about her In order to set the issue of racial passing in a historical and cultural framework I attempt at focusing on the connection between the novel and a jurisdictional case from 1925 called the Rhinelander Case This case is also being referred to in Passing What if Bellew should divorce Clare Could he There was the Rhinelander case Furthermore Madigan claims the following That Larsen has the case enter Irene s mind so quickly however testifies to the Rhinelanders importance to discussions of miscegenation the law and racial passing during the period of the Harlem Renaissance Leonard Kip Rhinelander who was from the upper white class of New York got married to Alice Jones who was mixed raced and from the working class Rhinelander attempted at annulling the marriage as he claimed he had not known about his wife s race before the wedding She countered by claiming that he has known about their race before their marriage as it was unmistakable The jury the young couple had to face was all male and white Thereupon this term paper will deal with the following research question How can the relationship between the Rhinelander Case and Nella Larsen s Passing be defined and which are the means by which this relationship is being constituted
