Practising Phonics

at Home and Out and About

If your child is learning phonics at school, you might want to support them at home but feel unsure of what to do.

The right level for you depends on the knowledge and the right resources to help them. Don't worry that at the same stage the children you are seeing may be doing more practice. The key is to find what works for your child and to be consistent. If you are struggling to do this, ask your teacher for more ideas or resources.

If you can't see what you think is working, then it's best to try something else. You can always go back to what you know works. The key is to be consistent and to be happy to try things that don't work. It's all about trying things that work for your child.
