Learn methods to handle the challenges of cross-browser coding. Discover defensive development and error handling.

Single Page Web Applications Michael Mikowski, Josh C. Powell, 2013-09-30. Code for most web sites mostly runs on the server. When a user clicks on a link, the site reacts slowly because the browser sends information to the server and the server sends it back again before displaying the results. With near-universal availability of capable browsers and powerful hardware, the single-page web application (SPA) pushes most of the code to the browser, giving users immediate results whether they're surfing at their desk or using a phone app. Single Page Web Applications shows how to build modern browser-based apps that take advantage of stronger client platforms and more predictable bandwidth. It covers the SPA design approach and explores new techniques like structured
