Answers to Questions

- 1 Only the investor's accounts are affected when outstanding stock is acquired from existing stockholders. The investor records the investment at its cost. Since the investee company is not a party to the transaction, its accounts are not affected.
 Both investor and investee accounts are affected when unissued stock is acquired directly from the investee. The investor records the investment at its cost and the investee adjusts its asset and owners' equity accounts to reflect the issuance of previously unissued stock.
- 2 Goodwill arising from an equity investment of 20 percent or more is not recorded separately from the investment account. Under the equity method, the investment is presented on one line of the balance sheet in accordance with the one-line consolidation concept.
- 3 Dividends received from earnings accumulated before an investment is acquired are treated as decreases in the investment account balance under the fair value/cost method. Such dividends are considered a return of a part of the original investment.
- 4 The equity method of accounting for investments increases the investment account for the investor's share of the investee's income and decreases it for the investor's share of the investee's losses and for dividends received from the investee. In addition, the investment and investment income accounts are adjusted for amortization of any investment cost-book value differentials related to the interest acquired. Adjustments to the investment and investment income accounts are also needed for unrealized profits and losses from transactions between the investor and investee companies. A fair value adjustment is optional under SFAS No. 159.

Bio-Based Materials as Applicable, Accessible, and Affordable Healthcare Solutions Adam A. Tracy, Sujata K. Bhatia, Krish W. Ramadurai, 2018-01-03 In this book Nigeria the most populous country in Africa and a region in the lowest income group per capita is used to demonstrate the potential for healthcare reorganization and collaboration with the introduction of successful technologies centered around available bio compatible and sustainable natural resources Our book discusses three of the top killers of children under 5 years of age in Nigeria pneumonia 20% diarrheal diseases 15% and traumatic injuries 4% These conditions are used as examples to demonstrate the potential for improved pediatric outcomes with treatments engineered from sustainable and natural resources Furthermore this book outlines possible action items that can help drive economic growth educational opportunities collaborative outreach and workforce productivity to build a healthy and sustainable community Medical technology in the industrialized world has seen rapid advancements leading to increased survival and greater patient outcomes However the development and implementation of these resources is not always applicable to regions in need of new and more basic ways to provide treatment Moore s Law a paradigm that considers advancement synonymous with increased digitization and optimization of electronic processes defines the history of technology However the functionality of advanced and smart technology is essentially useless in underdeveloped areas These regions lack some of the basic requirements for innovative medical technologies to impact human health such as electricity access to spare parts computer analysis tools and network architecture In addition the poor physical infrastructure insufficient management and lack of technical culture are barriers for entry and sustainability of these technologies Rather than importing medical devices from industrialized countries we propose that the mindset and research focus for under developed areas must be on successful technologies Simply put these areas need technology that gets the job done
