Colour Me English Caryl Phillips, 2017-03-30 What do we mean by English How does that image square with reality How does our island look from abroad and what aspects of our experience do we share with for example America a nation built by outsiders and the huddled masses Taking as its starting point a moving recollection of growing up in Leeds during the 1970s Colour Me English broadens into a reflective entertaining and challenging collection of essays and other non-fiction writing which ranges from the literary to the cultural and autobiographical Elsewhere Caryl Phillips goes on to describe the experience of living and working in America and travels in Sierra Leone Ghana Belgium and France and beyond He considers the lives and works of many figures including Chinua Achebe James Baldwin Billie Holiday and Luther Vandross and how their experiences are refracted through the prisms of writing music and cinema But Colour Me English always circles back to questions of identity and belonging to the nature of tribal belonging and of its reverse exclusion Color Me English

Ren e Schatteman Kirpal Singh Petra Tournay Theodotou Chika Unigwe Itala Vivan Abigail Ward Louise Yelin Foreigners Caryl Phillips, 2008-11-11 From an acclaimed award winning novelist comes this brilliant hybrid of reportage fiction and historical fact the stories of three black men whose tragic lives speak resoundingly to the problem of race in British society A searching meditation on outsiders in England Foreigners is written like all Phillips books in a style of even sorrowful precision that enrages as it informs Pico Iyer Time With his characteristic grace and forceful prose Phillips describes the lives of three very different men Francis Barber given to the 18th century writer Samuel Johnson whose friendship with Johnson led to his wretched demise Randolph Turpin a boxing champion who ended his life in debt and decrepitude and David Oluwale a Nigerian stowaway who arrived in Leeds in 1949 and whose death at the hands of police twenty years later was a wake up call for the entire nation As Phillips weaves together these three stories he illuminates the complexities of race relations and social constraints with devastating results

A Distant Shore Caryl Phillips, 2003 The English village is a place where people come to lick their wounds Dorothy has walked away from a bad thirty year marriage an affair gone sour and a dangerous obsession Unable to cope with the change from the civility of life as a teacher in a grammar school to the democratic brutishness of a comprehensive she has taken early retirement Between her visits to the doctor and the music lessons she gives to bored teenagers she is trying to rebuild a life Her neighbour seems concerned to conceal his past behind a facade of impeccable manners It s not immediately clear why Solomon is living in the village but his African origin suggests a complex history that is at odds with his dull routine of washing the car and making short trips to the local supermarket Though all he has in common with the English is a shared language it soon becomes clear that Solomon hopes that his new country will provide him with a safe haven in which he might enjoy the decent behaviour and graciousness that he believes the English habitually practice Gradually they establish a form of comfort in each other s presence that alleviates the isolation they both feel A DISTANT SHORE is a masterful novel and a brilliant exploration of an England that is changing beyond measure as the world outside its borders intrudes

Cambridge Caryl Phillips, 1992 One of England s most widely acclaimed young novelists adopts two eerily convincing narrative voices and juxtaposes their stories to devastating effect in this mesmerizing portrait of slavery Cambridge is a devoutly Christian slave in the West Indies whose sense of justice is both profound and self destructive while Emily is a morally blind genteel Englishwoman From the Trade Paperback edition

Refracting the Canon in Contemporary British Literature and Film Susana Onega Jaén, Christian Gutleben, 2004 Contemporary works of art that remodel the canon not only create complex hybrid and plural products but also alter our perceptions and understanding of their source texts This is the dual process referred to in this volume as refraction that the essays collected here set out to discuss and analyse by focusing on the dialectic rapport between postmodernism and the canon What is sought in many of the essays is a redefinition of postmodernist art and a re examination of the canon in the light of contemporary epistemology Given this dual process this volume will be of value both to everyone interested in contemporary art particularly fiction drama and film and also to readers whose aim it is to promote a better appreciation of canonical British literature

European Writers in Exile

Robert C. Hauhart, Jeff Birkenstein, 2018-10-26 European Writers in Exile collects a series of original essays that address the writers universal existential dilemma when viewed through the lens of exile who am I where am I from and what do I write and to whom While we often understand the term exile to refer to writers who have either been forced to leave their home country or region or chosen self exile this term need not be defined so narrowly and the contributors to this volume explore a range of interesting and evolving definitions Various countries in Europe have long been both a refuge for people and writers from many countries and a strife torn region which has forced many to flee within the continent or beyond it The phrase in exile involves writers moving across borders in multiple directions and for multiple reasons including for reasons of duress or personal quest and these themes are addressed and critiqued in these essays This volume naturally examines the cataclysmic and near universal exilic experiences relating to the world wars including essays on Thomas Mann Vladimir Nabokov Hannah Arendt and Leo Strauss Additionally essays address the unique early twentieth century experiences of Emile Zola Franz Kafka Joseph Conrad and James Joyce More contemporary essay subjects include Milan Kundera Norman Manea Eva Hoffman Caryl Phillips and W G Sebald This collection of transnational globalized European literature studies envisions understanding the intersection of our contemporary world and various writers in exile in new cultural historical spatial and epistemological frameworks How does literary production in an increasingly globalized world when seen from exile affect a view back towards a country or region left behind Or conversely how does exile push a writer to look outward to new transnationalized spaces These and other questions are important to investigate Taken in sum European Writers in Exile offers an academically rigorous important and cohesive volume
