Entertainment Media and Communication Nicholas David Bowman, 2024-10-21 Although not considered a formal area of study scholarship on the uses content and effects of entertaining media has been central to communication studies and related fields for more than a century The serious study of entertainment seems paradoxical as we presume entertainment to be the lighter side of our daily lives Yet as revealed in this volume entertainment media serve as cultural artifacts that shape our understandings of various peoples and publics in ways that invite deeper immersive and increasingly interactive engagement On this backdrop Entertainment Media and Communication serves as a reference guide for canonical and foundational research into media entertainment and a collection of emerging and updated theories and models core to the study of media entertainment in the 21st century Across more than forty chapters and with a diverse and inclusive list of authors this volume provides a broad yet nuanced view into entertainment media and communication scholarship The contributors explore its foundations define and extend key concepts and theories through myriad lenses discuss unique considerations of digital media and divine future paths for scholarly inquiry

Southeast Asia's Development Bryan Cheang, 2026-02-28 This volume challenges dominant narratives about Southeast Asia s development by bridging a long standing intellectual divide On the one hand liberal thinkers rarely engage with the developmental histories and practices of the non Western world On the other Asian scholars and heterodox critics often treat economic liberalism as a neoliberal project imported in unsavoury circumstances Bringing these worlds into conversation Southeast Asia s Development advances a distinct view of liberal development in the tradition of Adam Smith and F A Hayek rooted in individualism social pluralism and negative rights to expose the failures of the region s entrenched model of elite driven political capitalism While globalization and partial liberalization since the 1980s have raised living standards Southeast Asian states continue to uphold regimes that hollow out personal agency treating citizens as instruments of national performance economic units to be optimized or bodies to be disciplined rather than as persons with ends of their own This volume advances a new normative ideal development as freedom to discover treating development as the preservation of individual spaces that enable people to pursue their own conceptions of good within the rules they help shape It is thus a call to reimagine development not as a collective end goal but an open ended process of human discovery and institutional experimentation
