provides an in depth analysis of peacekeeping training in Africa tracing how centres have adapted to the operational and normative changes of peace operations over time and raising questions about the expectations attached to these training efforts and their impact The book examines training content and methods in detail exploring the potential of peacekeeping training centres as sites for socialisation and diffusing international norms in an effort to change and shape peacekeepers behaviour The analysis is based on two contrasting case studies selected to show the spectrum of training centres operating in Africa namely the Kofi Annan International Peacekeeping Training Centre KAIPTC in Accra Ghana and the African Centre for the Constructive Resolution of Disputes ACCORD in Durban South Africa At a time when impact is being determined by the number of course attendees this book provides an important critical assessment of training efforts and what they are supposed to achieve It will be of interest to scholars and practitioners within the fields of international security peacekeeping and African development
