

Advanced Formulas and Functions in Microsoft Excel

This document provides instructions for using some of the more complex formulas and functions in Microsoft Excel, as well as using absolute references in formulas.

Opening Comments

Formulas are equations that perform calculations on values. A formula starts with an equal sign (=) and follows the order of operations (parentheses, exponents, multiplication & division, addition & subtraction).

For example, the following formula multiplies 2 by 3 and then adds 5 to the result.

`=5+2*3`

A function is a preset formula. Like formulas, functions begin with an equal sign (=) followed by the function's name and its arguments. The function name tells Excel what calculation to perform. The arguments are contained inside round brackets.

For example, the most used function in Excel is the SUM function, which is used to add together the data in selected cells. The SUM function is written as -

`=SUM(A1:A6)`

Here the function adds the contents of the cell range A1 to A6.

Formulas and functions can be entered directly into a cell or into the Formula Bar.

The screenshot shows the Microsoft Excel interface. The ribbon includes File, Home, Insert, Page Layout, Formulas, Data, Review, and View. The Home ribbon is active, showing options for Cut, Copy, Paste, and Format Painter. The Font section shows Calibri font, size 11, and various formatting options. The Formula Bar is highlighted with a red arrow and the text "Enter a formula in the Formula Bar". The spreadsheet below shows a table with columns A through G and rows 1 through 8. The table contains data for January, February, and March. Cell E6 is highlighted with a red arrow and the text "Enter a formula directly into the cell".
