CELLS

How do transport work for this example?

1. Surface ions are actively transported out the back, into the blood, by the gulliver.
2. Maintaining a concentration gradient of potassium ions in lumen than out.
3. Surface ions pull glucose ions by facilitated diffusion from the lumen, into a space.
4. Creating a concentration gradient of all glucose in epithelial cell than lumen.
5. Glucose moves out of cell into blood through a protein channel.

Diagram showing the absorption of water

Water potential

Definition: High movement of water molecules across water potential gradient. They point water always

Water potential = the likelihood ('potential') of water

- Pure water has the highest water potential (0 kJ mol⁻¹)
- Adding solutes to a solution lowers the water potential
- Measured in kilojoules mol⁻¹
- Can be denoted by the symbol ψ

How about osmosis

- Osmosis = no ATP / energy required
- Factors affecting rate = surface area, water potential difference, thickness of exchange surface / diffusion distance

Application example

Red blood cells contain a variety of solutes dissolved

- If a red blood cell is placed in pure water, it will gain water potential than pure water
- The cell surface membrane will break and burst the cell

- However, if a red blood cell is placed in a solution of pure water, water will leave the cell by osmosis
- The cell shrinks and becomes dehydrated

Key takeaway point: Water will always move to a cell

Antibodies

Remember the definition of an antibody

Antibody: A protein, specific to an antigen, which

Structure of antibodies - key points

- Quaternary structural protein (links to 1.1.4.2)
- Composed of 4 polypeptide chains (2 heavy and 2 light) joined together by disulphide bridges
- Each chain has a specific amino acid sequence
- Each chain has a specific amino acid sequence

Exam question example

- Describe and explain how the structure of an antibody
- Explain the structure of protein = importance of primary
- The structure of the protein = importance of primary
- The structure of the protein = importance of primary
- The structure of the protein = importance of primary

Diagram of an antibody

Meiosis

The stage of the cell cycle where the cell spends most of its time in G1. Application example of this stage (this is about as much as you need to know) for your comprehensive examination from 1.1.5.2

- During meiosis, in addition to DNA replication, these processes are also occurring
- DNA replication
- Protein synthesis
- Replication of organelles

But this is beyond the scope of A-level and the amount of detail you would be required to know - so don't worry about learning that

Meiosis

Parent cell 'divides' into two in the G1 phase into two cells. Results in the formation of two genetically identical daughter cells (stage of mitosis = 1.1.5.1)

Chromosome transcription: Mitosis is not actually the process where the cell divides into two daughter cells. Rather,

Meiosis is the division of the cell, resulting into two genetically identical cells.

Stages of mitosis

- Prophase - key points:
 - Chromosomes condense, becoming shorter and thicker (they appear in two sister chromatids, joined by a centromere)
 - Chromosomes become visible under a microscope
 - Nuclear envelope breaks down and granules move to opposite sides, forming the spindle network (needed for later stages)

- Metaphase - key points:
 - Chromosomes align along the equator / middle of the cell
 - Spindle fibres attach to chromosomes by their centromeres

Source of genetic information is subdivided without genomes
