Managing volatility in logistics markets Erik Hofmann,Laurin Zemmrich,2022-06-22 The motivation of the Institute for Supply Chain Management ISCM at the University of St Gallen to write the present study is to investigate influencing factors challenges and measures related to freight price volatility in the transport modes of sea road rail and air In addition the study seeks to answer the question of which practices shippers carriers and intermediaries can leverage to counteract fluctuating freight rates in logistics markets Because freight prices in the different transport modes have received limited attention in previous research we create a basic understanding of the effects of different influencing factors on the formation of volatile freight prices The aim is to reduce the lack of transparency in the formation and development of freight prices to be able to make well founded and market oriented decisions in the context of price planning management and control In addition to an improved understanding of the origin of transport prices this study provides practitioners with a basis for implementing concrete solutions To achieve this objective we define relevant criteria to carry out a suitable segmentation of logistics markets Based on these criteria including geographical scope transport mode and load carrier we investigate four relevant logistics scenarios within the study To this end the study derived among other things building blocks of concrete practices for the various transport modes and linked them to the underlying volatility sources Furthermore we develop and analyze a map of digital business models in transportation including marketplaces software solutions and digital platforms as well as an extensive list of companies and freight price indices which serve as a starting point for identifying suitable tools and software solutions for dealing with fluctuating freight prices
