Final Report and Appendix of the Wisconsin Lincoln Bicentennial Commission Wisconsin Lincoln Bicentennial Commission, 2010 We Are the Nerds Christine Lagorio-Chafkin, 2018-10-02 Named a Best Book of 2018 by Fast Company this is a sharply written and brilliantly reported Shelf Awareness look inside Reddit the wildly popular often misunderstood website that has changed the culture of the Internet Reddit hails itself as the front page of the Internet It's the third most visited website in the United States and yet millions of Americans have no idea what it is We Are the Nerds is an engrossing look deep inside this captivating maddening enterprise whose army of obsessed users have been credited with everything from solving cold case crimes and spurring tens of millions of dollars in charitable donations to seeding alt right fury and landing Donald Trump in the White House We Are the Nerds is a gripping start up narrative the story of how Reddit's founders Steve Huffman and Alexis Ohanian rose up from their suburban childhoods to become millionaires and create an icon of the digital age before seeing the site engulfed in controversies and nearly losing control of it for good Based on Christine Lagorio Chafkin's exclusive access to founders Ohanian and Huffman We Are the Nerds is also a compelling exploration of the way we all communicate today and how we got here Reddit and its users have become a mirror of the Internet it has dingy corners shiny memes malicious trolls and a sometimes heart melting ability to connect people across cultures oceans and ideological divides

State & Local Government Review, 2012 Library & Information Science Abstracts, 2007 A Phenomenological Study of Social Media Liam Mitchell, 2012 Optimists used to suggest that the anonymity of the internet allows people to interact without prejudices about race sex or age Although some websites still foster anonymous communication their popularity pales in comparison with sites like Facebook that foreground identifying characteristics These social network sites claim to enrich their users lives by cultivating connections but they sometimes have the opposite effect Given the widespread and growing use of social media my research poses the following questions Does a particular form of dis engagement with the world flow from the reduction of the person to a profile Does this dis engagement extend beyond social media possibly into the way that we understand the world as such What can we conclude about the broader theoretical framework in which an analysis of social media might be couched I answer these questions through Martin Heidegger s work which provides the theoretical orientation for the dissertation as a whole Noting that history informs the way that he understands ontology Chapter One I argue that the social changes that are accompanying the spread of the internet suggest modifications to his characterizations of boredom Chapter Two and technology Chapter Three I then turn to three emblematic social media sites Facebook which renders its users connected and identifiable Chapter Four Reddit which gathers its users into a pseudonymous community of common interest Chapter Five and 4chan which demands that its users engage in an anonymous fashion Chapter Six and analyze them using the framework developed above while drawing from them to alter that framework further I claim that although the patterns of use apparent on these sites differ they all express different aspects of the mood that holds sway over the internet Social media is both the cause of and solution to boredom and it is shaping a generalized mood that is coming to seem ontological in its purchase

How to Approach Sampling for Social Network Analysis Lorien Jasny, Simone Long, Jacob Minihane, Jessica Wu, 2022. As more and more researchers use online data, thinking through how to sample this data for robust qualitative and quantitative work is critical. Many standard sampling techniques can and have been applied to large online datasets, but sampling for social network analysis can bring additional complications. Here we think through the implications of these approaches for social network analysis using some of the most popular online social networking sites: Facebook, Reddit, Twitter, and YouTube. One of the biggest inhibitors in using data from Online Social Networks can be the limits imposed on researchers by their own application programming interface. When the rate limits are hit, researchers are often left in the dark about the sampling methods that were used to obtain the data provided. Here we discuss how researchers have handled these problems; we explore ways to sample that avoid limitations and the methods to compensate for data sampling problems should they be unavoidable.
