An Engineering Student's Guide to the Humanities & Social Sciences Joseph S. Johnston, Jr., 1988 Undergraduate engineering students and their advisors are provided with a handbook to help improve the quality and coherence of the humanities and social sciences (H/SS) component of undergraduate engineering education, fostering more purposeful H/SS course selection. The first of this handbook's three sections has an engineering major and his advisor discussing the value of H/SS coursework and the case for taking it seriously. The second section is a brief set of general guidelines for constructing a sound H/SS component, noting it should do such things as fulfill the institution's and program's requirements, contribute to a general education, and include integrative and capstone experiences. Section three consists of eight sample H/SS clusters that illustrate how the guidelines can be applied by students with different needs, interests, and aspirations. The suggested cluster approach to H/SS course selection was designed by the project advisory committee and a working group of engineering and liberal arts educators from across the country. Suggestions about the H/SS component as conforming to the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology guidelines are that the H/SS component should be at least 12.5% of the student's total program, be planned to reflect a rationale or fulfill an objective appropriate to the engineering profession, include some courses at an advanced level rather than be limited to a selection of unrelated introductory courses.
