

Joseph Pilates Reading Comprehension Activities

Joseph created these exercises to improve the body & mind. He thought that exercise is a good way to improve self-control and other health problems. He wanted to get stronger, to control movement and space, to bring different forces outside to learn knowledge, to not depending on others.

He wanted a person who is strong at body, mind and spirit – on the physical level, the natural ability to be used to control. There are also other ideas, like general and different in thinking.

In 1913, Pilates moved to England and worked as a self-defense instructor for the British and American army. When World War I began, he was arrested and imprisoned along with thousands of other Germans who remained in Britain after World War I. While in jail, he used a simple Pilates exercise to control his muscles and began to think about creating a way to control his body. He did this with control and also learned the mind and spirit to control these exercises. Joseph thought control is the key element to these exercises during his time. He was captured and stayed there in 1914. He had to show his control when he was sent to a camp at the age of 47 in various times.

In 1915, a nurse in camp brought Joseph some Pilates exercise books to the hospital. He went back to the gym and he started to do Pilates exercises. He thought that Pilates is a way to control his body and mind. He started to do Pilates exercises. He thought that Pilates is a way to control his body and mind. He started to do Pilates exercises.
