Gun Laws of America Alan Korwin, Michael P. Anthony, 2003 The only unabridged compilation of federal gun laws in print includes plain English description of every law on the books and 70 pages of intro that explains how the whole system works Everything Congress has done regarding Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms Law Com no 363, HC 668 - Firearms Law - Reforms to Address Pressing Problems Great Britain. Law Commission, 2015 The current law regulating firearms is contained primarily within the Firearms Act 1968 Further provisions however are to be found in an additional 33 Acts of Parliament This number does not include the numerous pieces of secondary legislation that regulate the acquisition and possession of firearms The current legislative landscape has been the subject of a great deal of criticism in particular because 1 there is a lack of coherence between the 34 different sets of legislative provisions 2 loopholes are being exploited by those with criminal intent 3 the law is difficult to find given that it is scattered across numerous Statutes 4 keyterms within the legislation have been left undefined and 5 overall the law is so complex that even those who deal with it every day struggle to understand aspects of it The primary Act the Firearms Act 1968 was a consolidating measure The 1968 Act was hurried through Parliament it has been suggested that the Act was enacted without sufficient consultation and preparation first being undertaken This perhaps explains some of the Act's deficiencies Additionally it incorporates provisions that have their origin in the Pistols Act 1903 It is questionable whether some of the language used is still fit for purpose over 100 years after it was first enacted This report is divided thematically Each of chapters 2 to 6 sets out key problems with a different aspect of the law examines consultees responses to the consultation questions and provisional proposals and makes final recommendations Chapter 7 examines the response of consultees to the Law Commission provisional proposal that the law relating to firearms be codified Chapter 8 lists the Law Commission recommendations and chapter 9 contains a glossary
