Structure And Change In Economic History:

Structure and Change in Economic History Douglass Cecil North, 1981 In this bold sweeping study of the development of Western economies Douglass C North sets forth a new view of societal change Handbook of European History, 1400-1600: Structures and assertions Thomas A. Brady, Heiko Augustinus Oberman, James D. Tracy, 1996 Handbook of European History 1400 1600 Late Middle Ages Renaissance and Reformation gathers the best scholarship into an array of topical chapters that present current knowledge and thinking in ways useful to specialists and accessible to students and educated nonspecialists Economic history pamphlets, 1911 The Economy As A Complex Evolving System Ii W. Brian Arthur, Steven N. Durlauf, David A. Lane, 1997-10-05 This volume is a collection of articles that shape and define a new view of the economy as an evolving complex system This view is one of the economy as emerging from the interactions of individual agents whose behavior constantly evolves whose strategies and actions are always adapting Institutions, Institutional Change and Economic Performance Douglass C. North, 1990-10-26 Continuing his groundbreaking analysis of economic structures Douglass North develops an analytical framework for explaining the ways in which institutions and institutional change affect the performance of economies both at a given time and over time Institutions exist he argues due to the uncertainties involved in human interaction they are the constraints devised to structure that interaction Yet institutions vary widely in their consequences for economic performance some economies develop institutions that produce growth and development while others develop institutions that produce stagnation North first explores the nature of institutions and explains the role of transaction and production costs in their development The second part of the book deals with institutional change Institutions create the incentive structure in an economy and organisations will be created to take advantage of the opportunities provided within a given institutional framework North argues that the kinds of skills and knowledge fostered by the structure of an economy will shape the direction of change and gradually alter the institutional framework He then explains how institutional development may lead to a path dependent pattern of development In the final part of the book North explains the implications of this analysis for economic theory and economic history He indicates how institutional analysis must be incorporated into neo classical theory and explores the potential for the construction of a dynamic theory of long term economic change Douglass C North is Director of the Center of Political Economy and Professor of Economics and History at Washington University in St Louis He is a past president of the Economic History Association and Western Economics Association and a Fellow American Academy of Arts and Sciences He has written over sixty articles for a variety of journals and is the author of The Rise of the Western World A New Economic History CUP 1973 with R P Thomas and Structure and Change in Economic History Norton 1981 Professor North is included in Great Economists Since Keynes edited by M Blaug CUP 1988 paperback ed Explorations in Economic History, 1987 The Journal of European Economic History, 1986 History, Politics and Theory in the Great Divergence Debate Olya

Murphy,2023-12-31 World history suffers from a paucity of clearly articulated convincing explanations While the rise of postmodernism and challenges to Eurocentrism did lead to some important correctives the pendulum has swung too far the other direction with a corresponding danger of throwing the baby out with the bathwater We need careful theoretically informed debates about ways of organizing world history What constitutes a good historical explanation What should guide historians to choose relevant facts Which theoretical schools could be made useful and to what ends These questions are especially relevant to the main topic of this book the great divergence between the west and the rest of the world and how this historical rupture is to be explained The book provides extensive critical analyses of some of the key claims in world history analyzing their strengths as well as their major weaknesses too often rooted in insufficient familiarity of historians with theories they discard It also historicizes the field and the debates to partly account for what caused some theories to become more influential and others to fall into oblivion despite the fact that the more influential frameworks are seriously flawed and some of the more marginalized ideas are more coherent and plausible The book offers insights regarding the theoretical and political relevance of older debates about the transition to capitalism and historical materialism Three major schools of thought in world history are critically examined through an in depth theoretical and comparative analysis that has not been undertaken elsewhere the so called California School World Systems Analysis and Marxist theories of history capitalism and the transition from feudalism to capitalism Murphy argues that despite some of the more recent criticisms of older approaches to world history the older theories remain indispensable for the writing of world history and for coming to terms with issues of global poverty inequality and eco catastrophe

An Economic History of Twentieth-Century Latin America E. Cardenas,J. Ocampo,R. Thorp,2016-01-13 In the 1990s protection import substitution and intervention have become dirty words part of the leyenda negra of Latin America development in the postwar period This book attempts a fresh look at the controversial years between the end of the Second World War and the point when at varying dates in different countries a discontinuity occurs in which the postwar style of development ceased to play a central role in the economic evolution of the region The analysis is based on seven case studies covering eleven countries

Technology and Industrial Transformation of China Yanqing Jiang,Jiwei Gu,2022-10-30 This book explores how China s industrial transformation and development depend on technology and innovation and how considerations about issues associated with technology and innovation may affect China s development strategies Market oriented reforms initiated four decades ago have constantly fueled a high speed of development in China The country s industrial structure has experienced rapid evolution In the meantime especially in the general context of globalization the country has also opened to foreign trade and foreign direct investment transforming itself from a virtually completely closed economy into a major trading nation and the largest developing country destination for foreign direct investment in the world Technology is thought to be one of the key driving forces that shape the transformation of the Chinese economy Owing to different speeds of innovation and technology diffusion uneven development is one major issue in the process of China's industrial transformation under new trends of globalization Substantial disparities across different Chinese regions e.g. the gaps in regional industrial development and those in incomes and living standards have been one prominent feature of China and are needless to say closely related to different speeds of innovation and technology diffusion The relationship between technology diffusion innovation and industrial development is an important yet complicated issue that deserves careful study Considerations related to technology and innovation play a crucial role in leading and shaping China's development strategies and routes Sustainable development of China creates strong pressures for continuous transforming upgrading and restructuring of the Chinese economy and in all of these processes innovation and technology diffusion play a fundamental role The book presents to the interested reader facts thoughts models empirical results and discussions that shed light on those issues

Initial Training for History Teachers Alois Ecker, 2003-01-01 The Council of Europe's work on history teaching in secondary schools has three main thrusts curriculum development textbooks and teaching materials and teacher training which should take into account societal developments and the cultural needs of coming generations This pilot study is the first comparative study on the structures of initial training for history teachers to be carried out in several European countries Its aim is to provide information that will raise the level of professionalism not only of history teaching but also of teacher training Publisher's description

The German Family (Routledge Revivals) Richard J. Evans, W. R. Lee, 2015-06-11 This book surveys the history of the German family in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The contributions deal with the influence of industrialisation on family life in town and country with rural families and communities under the impact of social and economic change and with the role and influence of the family in the lives of men and women in the newly emerged working class Research on the history of the family had so far at the point of this book's publication in 1981 concentrated on England and France this book adds an important comparative dimension by extending the discussion into Central Europe and bringing fresh evidence and interpretation to bear on the wider debate about the effects of industrialisation on family structure and family life as a whole The authors approach the subject from a variety of perspectives including social anthropology oral history economic history and feminist studies This book is ideal for students of history particularly the history of Germany
