Making Disability Modern Bess Williamson, Elizabeth Guffey, 2020-07-23 Making Disability Modern Design Histories brings together leading scholars from a range of disciplinary and national perspectives to examine how designed objects and spaces contributes to the meanings of ability and disability from the late 18th century to the present day and in homes offices and schools to realms of national and international politics The contributors reveal the social role of objects particularly those designed for use by people with disabilities such as walking sticks wheelchairs and prosthetic limbs and consider the active role that makers users and designers take to reshape the material environment into a usable world But it also aims to make clear that definitions of disability and ability are often shaped by design

Disability Robert M. Baird, Stuart E. Rosenbaum, 2008-12-31 What is it like to experience disability What are the prevailing cultural attitudes toward those who experience disability How do social norms and public policies affect those experiencing disability This book provides a vivid and concrete introduction to the wealth of social political and ethical debates that surround the experience of disability Beginning with an exploration of the perspective of persons with disabilities the essays demonstrate the extent to which the disability experience is affected by social and cultural values attitudes and policies In addition to these first person reflections there are essays relating to such issues as The disability rights movement Disability studies Social policy relating to disability Physician assisted suicide genetic testing selective abortion the moral status of handicapped newborns and living and dying with dignity Written in an engaging style with a focus on the concrete this collection of essays includes contributions by John Hockenberry Oiver Sacks Peter Singer and others It is a marvelous resource for enabling the reader to comprehend the experience of disability and to explore contemporary issues involving the disability community

Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world s disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment

International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches
