Learning to Read and Write

Frederick Douglass - Journalist & Civil Rights Activist | 1818-1895

Frederick Douglass was born a slave in 1818 in Maryland. He learned to read and write, escaped to New York, and became a leader in the abolitionist movement. He engaged in speaking tours and edited North Star, a newspaper named for the one gold-escaping southern slave could rely on to find their way to freedom. Douglass is best known for his autobiographic Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass (1845), from which "Learning to Read and Write" is excerpted. In this selection, Douglass tells the story of his coming to literacy. As you read, keep your eye on the ways in which Douglass describes the world opening up for him as he learns his letters and the range of emotions this process evokes in him.

Appeals in Modern Rhetoric M. Jimmie

Killingsworth, 2005-09-26 Appeals in Modern Rhetoric An Ordinary Language Approach introduces students to current issues in rhetorical theory through an extended treatment of the rhetorical appeal a frequently used but rarely discussed concept at the core of rhetorical analysis and criticism Shunning the standard Aristotelian approach that treats ethos pathos and logos as modes of appeal M Jimmie Killingsworth uses common accessible language to explain the concept of the rhetorical appeal meaning the use of language to plead and to please The result is a practical and innovative guide to understanding how persuasion works that is suitable for graduate and undergraduate courses yet still addresses topics of current interest to specialists Supplementing the volume are practical and theoretical approaches to the construction and analysis of rhetorical messages and brief and readable examples from popular culture academic discourse politics and the verbal arts

Killingsworth draws on close readings of primary texts in the field referencing theorists to clarify concepts while he decodes many of the basic theoretical constructs common to an understanding of identification Beginning with examples of the model of appeals in social criticism popular film and advertising he covers in subsequent chapters appeals to time place the body gender and race Additional chapters cover the use of common tropes and rhetorical narrative and each chapter begins with definitions of key concepts
