Full Feasibility Analysis

Every full feasibility study is organized into generally well-defined sections that correspond to the questions that you will need to answer. Along with each part of the organizational chart, is available to MS Word and PDF format under various "Workbooks of Sample Business Feasibility Studies".

Executive Summary

- (A) Name of the proposed business
- (B) Name of the founder (or founders)
- (C) One-paragraph summary of the business

Part I: Product/Service Placement

Market Assessment in This Part

- (A) Production cost description
- (B) Production cost details

Assessment Topics

Concept Statement Test

- Write a concise statement for your product/service idea. Share the concept statement with 7-10 people. Select people who will give you informed and useful feedback.
- Ask for their views about the concept statement and ask the people who read the statement to circle your three things that they think your product/service idea (1) provide their suggestions for making it better, (2) tell you whether they think the product or service idea is feasible, but not for commercial, and (3) share any additional comments or suggestions.
- Summarize the information you obtain from the concept statement test that follows the three paragraphs:
 - Strength of the product or service idea – Ask people who considered your product or service whether they think “Good” about the idea.
 - Suggestions for strengthening the idea – suggestions made by people that strengthen ideas or improve the idea.
 - Overall feasibility of the product or service concept – report the number of people who think the idea is feasible, the number of people who think it is not feasible, and any additional comments that were made.
 - Other comments and suggestions.

Soft Skills and Hard Values Kerry J. Kennedy, Margarita Pavlova, John Chi-Kin Lee, 2022-11-07 To help researchers educators and policy makers understand and support the development of 21st century skills in schools this edited volume explores the various iterations of soft skills with a particular focus on their implications for values and evaluates ways in which soft skills and hard values can be integrated Discourse throughout the 21st century has focused on the changing nature of work the need for new skill sets and the disruptive effects of new technologies This has been a neo liberal discourse that subordinated personal and individual needs to the needs of a productive workforce delivering more and more efficiencies linked to higher and higher profits The solution is often seen to be in the development of a school curriculum that focuses on work ready skills for an increasingly complex work environment and its demands Agencies such as OECD and UNESCO highlight the need to link the skills agenda with complementary values Yet this process is at a very early stage The proponents of the Fourth Industrial Revolution 4IR for example highlight the impact of new technologies not just on work but also on the social world Yet they neglect to explore the values that would be needed in these new disruptive environments This book takes up that issue and lays out the multiple value systems that are available for this new 21st century world It is an important resource for policy makers academics and teachers with responsibility for a new generation
