More Baths Less Talking Nick Hornby, 2012-08-21 Read what you enjoy not what bores you Nick Hornby tells us That simple liberating and indispensable directive animates each installment of the celebrated critic and author s monthly column in the Believer In this delightful and never musty tour of his reading life Hornby tells us not just what to read but how to read Whether tackling a dismayingly bulky biography of Dickens while his children destroy something in the next room or getting sucked into a serious assessment of Celine Dion during an intensely fought soccer match featuring his beloved Arsenal or devouring an entire series of children s books while on vacation Hornby s reviews are rich witty and occasionally madcap These essays capture the joy and ire the despair and exhilaration of the book lover s life and will appeal equally to both monocle wearing salonnières and people like him who spend a lot of time thinking about Miley Cyrus s next role

New Markets for Artists Brainard Carey, 2012-08-01 This book is like a language course that is meant to enhance your ability to communicate your art and creative ideas to the world In the new millennium artists must create new models for exhibitions and sales They must also be aware of new modes of communication from social networking to the latest mobile phone apps How we share visual information is radically shifting and artists can benefit from all of these new tools In this hyper competitive world the latest software and hardware as it applies to creativity and promotion is part of a language you must be conversant in This book works as a course downloadable syllabus available and as a companion volume to Carey s recent book Making It in the Art World

Literature and the Environment Matthew Whittle, Jade Munslow Ong, 2024-08-02 Global Literature and the Environment analyses literatures from across the world that connect readers to the localized impacts of the climate and ecological emergencies. The book contextualizes ecological breakdown within the history of imperialist capitalism, exploring how literature helps us to imagine and create a habitable and just world for all forms of life. The four chapters are organized according to the elements of the climate system that are at risk: Earth examines Caribbean, American, South African, and British literatures that explore how dominant human groups have exploited soils, minerals, metals, and oil in pursuit of economic aims; Water engages with poetic representations of and responses to extraction, pollution, and global warming in the fresh and saltwaters of Nigeria and the icescapes of Alaska; Air analyses prose and poetry that depicts atmospheric pollution caused by gas flaring in the Niger Delta and the production of pesticides in India; Life attends to the ways in which literature contextualizes the drivers of and proposed solutions to mass species extinction across North America, Africa, Australasia, and Aotearoa, New Zealand. This accessible and engaging book explores novels, plays, and poetry by writers including Octavia Butler, C. L. R. James, dg nanouk okpik, Ken Saro Wiwa, Imbolo Mbue, Indra Sinha, Witi Ihimaera, J. M. Coetzee, and Henrietta Rose Innes, amongst many others. It introduces readers to the concept of the Anthropocene alongside perspectives that challenge the assumption that the climate crisis is caused by an undifferentiated humanity. In doing so, the book draws on and combines a range of theoretical approaches, including postcolonialism, Indigenous studies, ecocriticism, cultural materialism, and animal studies.

The Right Hand of Sleep John Wray, 2010-09-30 Oskar Voxlauer is in flight from his past, from his bourgeois Austrian upbringing, from horrific memories of fighting on the Italian Front in 1917, and from the twenty years he has spent in the Ukraine watching his Bolshevik ideals crumble and the physical decline of the woman who taught him about love. In 1938 he finally returns to the small Austrian town of his birth, where his mother is waiting to greet a son she hasn't seen since he was a boy. But despite Oskar's attempts to live a reclusive existence as a gamekeeper up in the hills, he cannot escape the tensions that are threatening the tranquil town of Niessen. When Hitler marches into Austria and the Blackshirts come to the valley.
