Questions

1-1 The three major types of product costs in a manufacturing company are direct materials, direct labor, and manufacturing overhead.

1-2

a. Direct materials are an integral part of a finished product and their costs can be conveniently traced to it.

b. Indirect materials are generally small items of material such as glue and nails. They may be an integral part of a finished product but their costs can be traced to the product only at great cost or inconvenience.

c. Direct labor consists of labor costs that can be easily traced to particular products. Direct labor is also called "touch labor."

d. Indirect labor consists of the labor costs of janitors, supervisors, materials handlers, and other factory workers that cannot be conveniently traced to particular products. These labor costs are incurred to support production, but the workers involved do not directly work on the product.

e. Manufacturing overhead includes all manufacturing costs except direct materials and direct labor. Consequently, manufacturing overhead includes indirect materials and indirect labor as well as other manufacturing costs.

1-3 A product cost is any cost involved in purchasing or manufacturing goods. In the case of manufactured goods, these costs consist of direct materials, direct labor, and manufacturing overhead. A period cost is a cost that is taken directly to the income statement as an expense in the period in which it is incurred.

Heuristic Reasoning in Management Accounting Jörn Sebastian Basel,Jörn Basel,2012 Heuristics are short cuts and deliberately ignore information for instance through examining fewer cues or integrating less information However this collides with a view on management accountants and controllers as rational agents which seems to suggest that all available information should be considered As their role as information supplier is often accompanied with the task to assist managers in their judgment and decision making they have huge influence on these processes Therefore it is of high relevance to know if how and which heuristics management accountants and controllers use Furthermore we need to know which individual and situational factors influence their usage of heuristics With a series of five empirical studies applying a mixed methods research design the author sheds light to these research questions and addresses some central claims of the potential biases but also the stunning benefits of relying on heuristic reasoning Central to his discussion are dual process approaches which are debated in cognitive psychology Scholars of these approaches claim that we should distinguish between two distinct processes or systems of the human mind Following this interpretation heuristics are processes which are described as intuitive automatic fast and unconscious They are routinized cognitive processes which are based on experience in certain social environments and thus often exhibit ecological
