Translation Studies In Africa:

Translation Studies in Africa Judith Inggs, Libby Meintjes, 2009-03-04 Africa is a huge continent with multicultural nations where translation and interpretation are everyday occurrences Translation studies has flourished in Africa in the last decade with countries often having several official languages The primary objective of this volume is to bring together research articles on translation and interpreting studies in Africa written mainly but not exclusively by researchers living and working in the region The focus is on the translation of literature and the media and on the uses of interpreting It provides a clear idea of the state and direction of research and highlights research that is not commonly disseminated in North Africa and Europe This book is an essential text for students and researchers working in translation studies African studies and in African linguistics

Translation Studies in Africa S. J. Timothy-Asobele, 2016 Cultural Politics of Translation Alamin Mazrui, 2016-02-19 This book is the first full length examination of the cultural politics at work in the act of translation in East Africa providing close critical analyses of a variety of texts that demonstrate the myriad connections between translation and larger socio political forces Looking specifically at texts translated into Swahili the book builds on the notion that translation is not just a linguistic process but also a complex interaction between culture history and politics and charts this evolution of the translation process in East Africa from the pre colonial to colonial to post colonial periods It uses textual examples including the Bible the Qur'an and Frantz Fanon's Wretched of the Earth from five different domains religious political legal journalistic and literary and grounds them in their specific socio political and historical contexts to highlight the importance of context in the translation process and to unpack the complex relationships between both global and local forces that infuse these translated texts with an identity all their own This book provides a comprehensive portrait of the multivalent nature of the act of translation in the East African experience and serves as a key resource for students and researchers in translation studies cultural studies post colonial studies African studies and comparative literature

African Perspectives on Literary Translation Judith Inggs, Ella Wehrmeyer, 2021-03-02 This collection serves as a showcase for literary translation research with a focus on African perspectives highlighting theoretical and methodological developments in the discipline while shedding further light on the literary landscape in Africa The book offers a framework for understanding key approaches and topics in literary translation situated in the African context covering foundational concepts as well as new directions within the field The first half of the volume focuses on the translation product exploring such topics as translation strategies literary genres and self translation while the second half examines process and reception allowing for an in depth look at agency habitus and ethics Each chapter is structured to allow for the introduction of a given theoretical aspect of literary translation followed by a summary of a completed research project with an African focus showing theory in practice offering a model for readers to build their own literary translation research projects while also underscoring the range of perspectives and unique challenges to literary translation work in Africa This unique volume is a key resource for students and scholars in translation studies giving visibility to African perspectives on literary translation while pointing the way forward for future research directions

Translation Studies beyond the Postcolony Ilse Feinauer, Kobus Marais, 2017-01-06 This edited volume explores the role of postcolonial translation studies in addressing issues of the postcolony It investigates the retention of the notion of postcolonial translation studies and whether one could reconsider or adapt the assumptions and methodologies of postcolonial translation studies to a new understanding of the postcolony to question the impact of postcolonial translation studies in Africa to address pertinent issues The book also places the postcolony in historical perspective and takes a critical look at the failures of postcolonial approaches to translation studies The book brings together 12 chapters which are divided into three sections namely Africa the Global South and the Global North As such the volume is able to consider the postcolony and even conceptualisations beyond the postcolony in a variety of settings worldwide

Cultural Politics of Translation Alamin M. Mazrui, 2018-02-12 This book is the first full length examination of the cultural politics at work in the act of translation in East Africa providing close critical analyses of a variety of texts that demonstrate the myriad connections between translation and larger socio political forces Looking specifically at texts translated into Swahili the book builds on the notion that translation is not just a linguistic process but also a complex interaction between culture history and politics and charts this evolution of the translation process in East Africa from the pre colonial to colonial to post colonial periods It uses textual examples including the Bible the Qur an and Frantz Fanon s Wretched of the Earth from five different domains religious political legal journalistic and literary and grounds them in their specific socio political and historical contexts to highlight the importance of context in the translation process and to unpack the complex relationships between both global and local forces that infuse these translated texts with an identity all their own This book provides a comprehensive portrait of the multivalent nature of the act of translation in the East African experience and serves as a key resource for students and researchers in translation studies cultural studies post colonial studies African studies and comparative literature

Insights on Teaching Translation and Interpretation in Africa Djamel Goui, 2026-06-08 This book investigates the methods and strategies of how translation and interpreting are taught in Africa and it identifies the subject matters studied in several African universities namely the five corners north south west east and central Africa The book goes through its different chapters to measure the efficiency of those translation and interpretation programs departments faculties and schools via a comparison with the rate of employability of the graduates and their reputation in different local and continental organisms This book reveals the teaching translation and interpretation in Africa which is still adopting the traditional classical methods or adopting new methodologies in this age of AI and recommends methods to face positively the increasing integration of AI at all life levels including in translation and interpretations to highlight the pros and cons of it and prospect or recommend adaptive measures methods strategies or likely methodologies for better outcomes and performance This book also presents the mapping of major schools faculties institutes and departments of translation and interpreting in Africa It can serve as a useful academic guide for academic scholars and professional readers on African instructions of translation and interpreting teaching Translation Studies in South Africa Alet Kruger, University of South Africa. Department of English, 2000

Translation Theory and Development Studies Kobus Marais, 2014-07-16 This book aims to provide a philosophical underpinning to translation and relate translation to development The second aim flows from the first section's argument that societies emerge out of amongst others complex translational interactions amongst individuals It will do so by conceptualising translation from a complexity and emergence point of view and relating this view on emergent semiotics to some of the most recent social research It will further fulfill its aims by providing empirical data from the South African context concerning the relationship between translation and development The book intends to be interdisciplinary in nature and to foster interdisciplinary research and dialogue by relating the newest trends in translation theory i.e. agency theory in the sociology of translation to development theory within sociology Data in the volume will be drawn from fields that have received very little if any attention in translation studies i.e. local economic development the knowledge economy and the informal economy Translation in African Contexts Evan Mwangi, 2017

Mothered tongues post Afrocentric translations Against monolingualism Mother tongue and the abject mother Illusions of cultural purity A gendered adaptation Transmodern poetics Domesticating the queer in Shakespeare Language of languages an attempt to conclude Borders, Media Crossings and the Politics of Translation Pier Paolo Frassinelli, 2019-07-02 This book examines concepts of the border and translation within the context of social and cultural theory through the lens of southern Africa Borders Media Crossings and the Politics of Translation studies a diverse range of media representations of borders imagined borders border struggles collectivity boundaries and scenes of translation films documentaries literary texts photographs websites and other media texts and artistic interventions The book makes a case for bringing together media texts and sociocultural experiences across multiple platforms It argues that this transdisciplinary approach is singularly suited to the age of media convergence when words speech music videos and images compete for attention on the screens of digital devices where the written oral aural and visual are constantly mixed and remixed But it also reminds the reader of the digital divides linked to socioeconomic cultural language and geopolitical borders With its focus on sociocultural borders and translation this book will be of interest to scholars and students of media studies African studies and cultural studies Corpus-Based

Translation Studies Alet Kruger, Kim Wallmach, Jeremy Munday, 2011-06-16 This is a collection of leading research within corpus based translation studies CTS CTS is now recognized as a major paradigm that has transformed analysis within the discipline of translation studies It can be defined as the use of corpus linguistic technologies to inform and elucidate the translation process something that is increasingly accessible through advances in computer technology The book pulls together a wide range of perspectives from respected authors in the field All the chapters deal with the implementation of the basic concepts and methodologies providing the reader with practical tools for their own research The book addresses key issues in corpus analysis including online corpora and corpus construction and covers both translation and interpreting The authors look at various languages and utilize a variety of approaches qualitative and quantitative reflecting the breadth of the field and providing many valuable examples of the methodology at work

Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies Mona Baker, Gabriela Saldanha, 2019-09-20 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies remains the most authoritative reference work for students and scholars interested in engaging with the phenomenon of translation in all its modes and in relation to a wide range of theoretical and methodological traditions This new edition provides a considerably expanded and updated revision of what appeared as Part I in the first and second editions Featuring 132 as opposed to the 75 entries in Part I of the second edition it offers authoritative critical overviews of additional topics such as authorship canonization conquest cosmopolitanism crowdsourced translation dubbing fan audiovisual translation genetic criticism healthcare interpreting hybridity intersectionality legal interpreting media interpreting memory multimodality nonprofessional interpreting note taking orientalism paratexts thick translation war and world literature Each entry ends with a set of annotated references for further reading Entries no longer appearing in this edition including historical overviews that previously appeared as Part II are now available online via the Routledge Translation Studies Portal Designed to support critical reflection teaching and research within as well as beyond the field of translation studies this is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of translation interpreting literary theory and social theory among other disciplines

Postcolonial Polysystems Haidee Kruger, 2012-12-19 Postcolonial Polysystems The Production and Reception of Translated Children's Literature in South Africa is an original and provocative contribution to the field of children's literature research and translation studies It draws on a variety of methodologies to provide a perspective both product and process oriented on the ways in which translation contributes to the production of children's literature in South Africa with a special interest in language and power as well as post and neocolonial hybridity The book explores the forces that affect the use of translation in producing children's literature in various languages in South Africa and shows how some of these forces precipitate in the selection production and reception of translated children's books in Afrikaans and English It breaks new ground in its interrogation of aspects of translation theory within the multilingual and postcolonial context of South Africa as well as in its innovative experimental investigation of the reception of domesticating and foreignising strategies in translated picture books

Translation Beyond Translation Studies Kobus Marais, 2022-10-06 What is translation Even as the scholarly viewpoint of translation studies has expanded over recent years the notion of translation has remained fixedly defined by its interlinguistic element However there are many different contexts and disciplines in which translation takes place for which this definition is entirely unsuitable Exploring translational aspects in contexts in which scholars do not think about translation this book considers the alternative uses of the term beyond the interlinguistic dimension Taking our understanding of translation back to its basic semiotic principles leading experts outline the wide variety of alternative fields of study practices applications and contexts in which the term translation is used Chapters examine 11 different fields of study exploring what the term translation means how it is used and what it could contribute to an enlarged understanding of translation as a concept In this way the volume argues for a reimagining of what we mean by translation providing an essential reference for anyone interested in how translation is understood and practiced beyond the narrow perspectives of the field of translation studies itself

African Languages in Practice Phindile Dlamini, Sebolelo Mokapela, S. F. Madonsela, 2024

Eurocentrism in Translation Studies Luc van Doorslaer, Peter Flynn, 2013-10-10 In the wake of post colonial and post modernist thinking Eurocentrism has been criticized in a number of academic disciplines including Translation Studies First published as a special issue of Translation and Interpreting Studies 6 2 2011 this volume re examines and problematizes some of the arguments used in such criticism It is argued here that one should be wary in putting forward such arguments in order not to replace Eurocentrism by a confrontational geographical model characterized precisely by a continentalization of discourse thereby merely reinstating under another guise The work also questions the relevance of continent based theories of translation as such along with their underlying beliefs and convictions But since the volume prefers to keep the debate open its concluding interview article also provides the opportunity to those criticized to respond and provide well balanced comments on such points of criticism

New Perspectives on Teaching Translators and Interpreters in South Africa, 1994

Translation and Public Policy Gabriel González Núñez, Reine Meylaerts, 2017-04-21 This book brings together an ensemble of leading voices from the fields of economics language policy law political philosophy and translation studies They come together to provide theoretical perspectives and practical case studies regarding a shared concern translation policy Their timely perspectives and case studies allow for the problematizing and exploration of translation policy an area that is beginning to come to the attention of scholars This book offers the first truly interdisciplinary approach to an area of study that is still in its infancy It thus makes a timely and necessary contribution As the 21st century marches on authorities are more and more confronted with the reality of multilingual societies and the monolingual state polices of yesteryear seem unable to satisfy increasing demands for more just societies Precisely because of that language policies of necessity must include choices about the use or non use of translation at different levels Thus translation policy plays a prominent yet often unseen role in multilingual societies This role is shaped by tensions and compromises that bear on the distribution of resources choices about language legal imperatives and notions of justice This book aims to inform scholars and policy makers alike regarding these issues

Translation Studies In Africa Introduction

In today's digital age, the availability of Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals for download has revolutionized the way we access information. Gone are the days of physically flipping through pages and carrying heavy textbooks or manuals. With just a few clicks, we can now access a wealth of knowledge from the comfort of our own homes or on the go. This article will explore the advantages of Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals for download, along with some popular platforms that offer these resources. One of the significant advantages of Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals for download is the cost-saving aspect. Traditional books and manuals can be costly, especially if you need to purchase several of them for educational or professional purposes. By accessing Translation Studies In Africa versions, you eliminate the need to spend money on physical copies. This not only saves you money but also reduces the environmental impact associated with book production and transportation. Furthermore, Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals for download are incredibly convenient. With just a computer or smartphone and an internet connection, you can access a vast library of resources on any subject imaginable. Whether you're a student looking for textbooks, a professional seeking industry-specific manuals, or someone interested in self-improvement, these digital resources provide an efficient and accessible means of acquiring knowledge. Moreover, PDF books and manuals offer a range of benefits compared to other digital formats. PDF files are designed to retain their formatting regardless of the device used to open them. This ensures that the content appears exactly as intended by the author, with no loss of formatting or missing graphics. Additionally, PDF files can be easily annotated, bookmarked, and searched for specific terms, making them highly practical for studying or referencing. When it comes to accessing Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals, several platforms offer an extensive collection of resources. One such platform is Project Gutenberg, a nonprofit organization that provides over 60,000 free eBooks. These books are primarily in the public domain, meaning they can be freely distributed and downloaded. Project Gutenberg offers a wide range of classic literature, making it an excellent resource for literature enthusiasts. Another popular platform for Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals is Open Library. Open Library is an initiative of the Internet Archive, a nonprofit organization dedicated to digitizing cultural artifacts and making them accessible to the public. Open Library hosts millions of books, including both public domain works and contemporary titles. It also allows users to borrow digital copies of certain books for a limited period, similar to a library lending system. Additionally, many universities and educational institutions have their own digital libraries that provide free access to PDF books and manuals. These libraries often offer academic texts, research papers, and technical manuals, making them invaluable resources for students and researchers. Some notable examples include MIT OpenCourseWare, which offers free access to course materials from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Digital Public Library of America, which provides a vast collection of digitized books and historical documents. In conclusion, Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals for download have transformed the way we access information. They provide a cost-effective and convenient means of acquiring knowledge, offering the ability to access a vast library of resources at our fingertips. With platforms like Project Gutenberg, Open Library, and various digital libraries offered by educational institutions, we have access to an ever-expanding collection of books and manuals. Whether for educational, professional, or personal purposes, these digital resources serve as valuable tools for continuous learning and self-improvement. So why not take advantage of the vast world of Translation Studies In Africa books and manuals for download and embark on your journey of knowledge?
