Dialogue in the Digital Age Patrick Grant, 2021-01-27 Combining literary criticism and theory with anthropology and cognitive science this highly relevant book argues that we are fundamentally shaped by dialogue Patrick Grant looks at the manner in which dialogue informs and connects the personal political and religious dimensions of human experience and how literacy is being eroded through many factors including advances in digital technology The book begins by tracing the history of evolved communication skills and looks at ways in which interconnections among tragedy the limits of language and the silence of abjection contribute to an adequate understanding of dialogue Looking at examples such as truth decay in journalism and falling literacy levels in school alongside literary texts from Malory and Shakespeare Grant shows how literature and criticism embody the essential values of dialogue The maintenance of complex reading and interpretive skills is recommended for the recuperation of dialogue and for a better understanding of its fundamental significance in the shaping of our personal and social lives Tapping into debates about the value of literature and the humanities and the challenges posed by digitalization this book will be of interest and significance to people working in a wide range of subjects including literary studies communication studies digital humanities social policy and anthropology iPad are increasingly used in classrooms to support student reading. This study used a survey, interviews, observations, and document collection to better understand how students' experiences with iPads and printed texts shaped their learning in reading. I explored the following research questions: How do students describe their preferences and reading comprehension when using iPads vs. printed texts? Does reading engagement differ when reading printed text vs. on an iPad? What do the data show about differences in reading comprehension for my students when using iPads vs. printed texts? The findings suggest: 1) students enjoy reading both printed books and digital texts from the iPad in my classroom with a slight preference for reading from the iPad; 2) students are distracted during reading by other students, noise, the teacher, and insects in the classroom; and 3) students have distracted reading behaviors especially when reading on the iPad. When comparing both media, reading comprehension data suggests higher reading comprehension when reading printed books vs. iPad-based digital texts. Implications for teacher practice include providing access to both digital and printed texts and making sound decisions as teachers about when to use different media for reading.
