The New Ireland Review, 1901 HOLD Amas Tenumah, 2026-02-14 LET ME TALK TO A HUMAN We ve all shouted it Whispered it Thought it while rage pressing zero In HOLD THE SUFFERING ECONOMY OF CUSTOMER SERVICE Amas Tenumah delivers a searing indictment of how modern service was designed not to help you but to wear you down This isn't a how to It's a how dare you Tenumah draws from years inside the belly of the corporate beast where service is measured in KPIs customers are problems to be deflected and automation is the holy grail so long as it keeps complaints quiet and costs lower He connects the dots between corporate incentives AI illusions and the slow erosion of human connection You'll learn Why wait times are a feature not a flaw How cost cutting masquerades as innovation What companies really mean by world class service And why the future of service depends on a revolt led by us Blending real stories biting wit and an operator's insider knowledge HOLD is a rallying cry for anyone who's tired of being treated like an afterthought and ready to demand something better Modern service is working Just not for you

The Technologisation of the Social Paul O'Connor, Marius Ion Benta, 2021-12-30 In an era of digital revolution artificial intelligence big data and augmented reality technology has shifted from being a tool of communication to a primary medium of experience and sociality Some of the most basic human capacities are increasingly being outsourced to machines and we increasingly experience and interpret the world through digital interfaces with machines becoming ever more social beings Social interaction and human perception are being reshaped in unprecedented ways This book explores this technologisation of the social and the attendant penetration of permanent liminality into those aspects of the lifeworld where individuals had previously sought some kind of stability and meaning Through a historical and anthropological examination of this phenomenon it problematises the underlying logic of limitless technological expansion and our increasing inability to imagine either ourselves or our world in other than technological terms Drawing on a variety of concepts from political anthropology including liminality the trickster imitation schismogenesis participation and the void it interrogates the contemporary technological revolution in a manner that will be of interest to sociologists social and anthropological theorists and scholars of science and technology studies with interests in the digital transformation of social life
