Standing, 2023-10-26 Guy Standing s books have over the years pieced together a necessary political and intellectual agenda His Politics of Time is a splendid and timely addition to this body of important work Yanis Varoufakis Time has always been political Throughout history how we use our time has been defined and controlled by the powerful and today is no exception

But we can reclaim control and in this book the pioneering economist Guy Standing shows us how The ancient Greeks organised time into five categories work labour recreation leisure and contemplation Labour was onerous whereas leisure was scholastic and included participation in public life and lifelong education Since the industrial revolution our time has been shaped by capitalism our jobs are supposed to provide all meaning in life our time outside labour is considered simply time off and politicians prioritise jobs above all other aspects of a good life Today we are experiencing the age of chronic uncertainty Mental illness is on the rise some people are experiencing more time freedom while many others are having more and more of their time stolen from them particularly the vulnerable and those in the precariat But there is a way forward We can create a new politics of time one that liberates us and helps save the planet through strengthening real leisure and working together through commoning We can retake control of our time but we must do it together 2030 Mauro F. Past and Future Presence Lissa Crofton-Sleigh, Brian Beams, 2024-05-14 While uses and studies of XR technology within STEM based education have been plentiful in recent years there has been lesser or even at times a lack of coverage for this novel learning tool in the arts and humanities Past and Future Presence aims to bridge some of that gap by presenting research based theory and case studies of successful application and implementation of XR technology into postsecondary educational settings ranging in topics from ancient to modern languages classical and contemporary art and reenvisioned historical scenes and events presented in ways never seen before The studies also contemplate how this novel medium can enhance and supplement learning in classrooms and other formal or informal learning environments The volume as a whole is intended to demonstrate to educators scholars and researchers in higher education the potential value of integrating XR technology into their classrooms and to provide a strong argument for college and university administrators to invest in training and development of new research and content for classrooms inside and outside of STEM The authors of these chapters come from a diverse range of backgrounds at different stages of their careers providing a broad crosssection of scholastic work within the humanities and arts Each chapter offers a different angle or approach to incorporating XR technology into teaching or research within different subject areas As the volume suggests this technology also places additional emphasis on the humanity within the humanities by focusing on increasing connection between users and different cultures time periods and perspectives
