2. Showing awareness of the historical context of the industrial revolution.

Industrialization and technological advancement led to the rise of the modern world.

The industrial revolution was a period of rapid change and growth, marked by the invention of the steam engine and the development of the factory system.

During this time, the world's population grew rapidly, and the demand for goods and services increased. This led to the development of new technologies and the expansion of trade.

Industrialization also led to the development of the modern world, as it allowed for the production of goods and services on a large scale. This led to the growth of cities and the development of modern infrastructure.
