Conservation Skills Judgement Method And Decision Making:

Conservation Skills Chris Caple, 2000 This extensive work not only describes the nature of conservation but also provides an ethical framework to which the conservation of objects as diverse as Old Masters to the ephemera of the twentieth century can be related

Conservation Skills for the 21st Century Chris Caple, Emily Williams, 2023-05-12 Conservation Skills for the 21st Century provides a much needed update to the original Conservation Skills volume presenting an overview of current issues facing conservators of historic and artistic works Beginning with the basics why the past is important as well as an overview of the nature and history of conservation the book allows the reader to develop a holistic appreciation of the subject As with the first edition this volume assists with the development of judgement in conservation students and young professionals A selection of new case studies representing issues conservators are likely to face in the 21st century illustrates the crucial considerations that must be made when proposing and executing a conservation treatment Incorporating recent developments and use of new technologies in conservation processes the book also covers topics such as conservation ethics recording and documentation investigating and cleaning objects stabilisation and restoration values decision making and responsibilities preventive conservation approaches to the treatment of working and socially active objects sustainability in conservation and the conservator's role as advocate With detailed case studies and written in a clear accessible style Conservation Skills for the 21st Century remains essential reading for student conservators and conservation professionals around the globe working across a wide range of conservation disciplines

Handbook of Material Culture Christopher Y. Tilley, 2006-01-26 Provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things This handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes a fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human

Faded and Threadbare Historic Textiles and their Role in Houses Open to the Public Margaret Ponsonby, 2016-04-15 Many historic houses that open to the public in England and Wales particularly those owned by the National Trust preserve their contents rather than restore them to a particular period The former owners of these houses often retained objects from various periods and this layering of history produces interiors that look aged and patinated Although the reason for this preservation and lack of fashionable renewable can be attributed to declining economic fortunes in the twentieth century there are many examples of families practising this method of homemaking over a much longer period Taking National Trust properties as its central focus this book examines three interlocking themes to examine the role of historic textiles Firstly it looks at houses with preserved contents together with the reasons for individual families choosing this lifestyle secondly the role of the National Trust as both guardian and interpreter of these houses and their collections and finally and most importantly the influence of textiles to contribute to the appearance of interiors and their physical attributes that carry historical resonances of the past The importance of preserved textiles in establishing the visual character of historic houses is a neglected area and therefore the prominence given to textiles in this project constitutes an original contribution to the study of these houses Drawing upon a range of primary sources including literature produced by the National Trust for their sites and documentary sources for the families and their houses such as diaries letters and household accounts the study takes a broad approach that will be of interest to all those with an interest in material culture heritage collecting studies and cultural history

Bridging the Gap Delphine Neff, Sabrina Grassini, David Watkinson, Nicola Emmerson, 2025-06-27 Conservation practitioners seek predictable and successful procedures and treatments for controlling corrosion of heritage metals that conform to aesthetic and ethical boundaries set by prevailing cultural historical and archaeological contexts Understanding metallic corrosion and its prevention is informed by scientific research provided by heritage scientists conservators themselves and to a lesser extent corrosion scientists who may be in academia or industry Bridging the Gap Corrosion Science For Heritage Contexts explores the decision making processes for preserving heritage metals and examines the collaborative interdisciplinary relationships that underpin them Through themed chapters the book is designed to develop and strengthen collaboration between these three groups of professionals creating a synergy that benefits research and practice for the preservation of heritage metals It builds an overview of metals conservation across a broad range of heritage contexts from indoor museum displays to fixed outdoor structures and moving objects Researchers and practitioners provide critical insights into corrosion problems within heritage current corrosion mitigation procedures and the evidence supporting best practice guidance The book will be a valuable reference resource for corrosion and corrosion protection scientists heritage preservation scientists conservation practitioners and students studying preservation of cultural objects Provides a detailed understanding of recent advancements and the benefits of a multidisciplinary approach to addressing future challenges Presents a contextual understanding of the corrosion of a range of heritage metals in different environments Discusses novel characterization techniques as applied to heritage science Overviews innovative protection treatments in use and under development Includes extensive case studies from highly qualified experts who deal with numerous issues on the conservation of metal artifacts
