Constitutional Development In Pakistan Gw Choudhury:

Constitutional development in Pakistan Golam Wahed Choudhury,1969      Emergency Powers and the Courts in India and Pakistan Imtiaz Omar,2002-03-28 The fundamental premise of this study is that where Constitutions such as that of India and Pakistan articulate legal norms which limit the scope of the executive power to derogate from individual rights during states of emergency there must likewise exist an effective control mechanism to ensure that the Executive acts within the scope of that power Viewed from this perspective the judicial power to interpret the Constitution imposes upon the Court the constitutional duty to provide adequate safeguards against the abuse of state power affecting individual rights This power remains available notwithstanding the presumed or purported ouster of judicial review The concept of judicial review as a source of control is examined in the light of the experience of Pakistan and India during periods of constitutional emergency The divergent approaches of the Courts in these countries in litigation concerning emergency powers and individual rights are explained in terms of divergent views that these Courts have adopted with respect to the nature of judicial review      Constitutional Development in Pakistan Golam Wahed Choudhury,1969      Islam and Pakistan's Political Culture Farhan Mujahid Chak,2014-09-04 This book explores the ideological rivalry which is fuelling political instability in Muslim polities discussing this in relation to Pakistan It argues that the principal dilemma for Muslim polities is how to reconcile modernity and tradition It discusses existing scholarship on the subject outlines how Muslim political thought and political culture have developed over time and then relates all this to Pakistan s political evolution present political culture and growing instability The book concludes that traditionalist and secularist approaches to reconciling modernity and tradition have not succeeded and have in fact led to instability and that a revivalist approach is more likely to be successful      Governance of Islam in Pakistan Sarah Holz,2022-10-15 Modern states increasingly seek to regulate religious expression practice and discourse This is profoundly evident at many levels of Islamic policy interaction from debates about the banning of the Muslim face veil in Europe to civic re education programmes for Muslim citizens in China Governance of Islam in Pakistan provides a systematic account of how interactions between multiple public and private bodies direct the regulation and standardisation of Islam in one of the largest Muslim majority states in the world Analysis centres on the institutional development of the Council of Islamic Ideology a constitutional body tasked with issuing advice to the executive and legislature about the compatibility of laws with Islamic principles Based on archival material that has been subject to little scholarly attention and interviews with Council members and staff of other state bodies Sarah Holz proposes governance as an analytical framework to study the negotiation of religious expression practice and discourse In contrast to the established Islamisation narrative which generally labels such religious institutions as mere rubberstamps in the process of policy making the study of governance offers an alternative approach that enables examination of the dynamic competition and cooperation among multiple actors Through collective interaction the Council and other relevant bodies are active players in the governance of Islam Insights gained from analysis of the ideational structural and functional evolution of the Council offers a Global South perspective on liberal democratic ideas about the functionality of the modern state and its institutional structure Issues of economic cultural and local international political influence bear strongly in governance analysis Engagement with the governance policy tool has applicability across the social sciences but is particularly relevant for South Asian Near and Middle East Studies
