Cyberspace in Peace and War Martin Libicki, 2016-10-15 This book is written to be a comprehensive guide to cybersecurity and cyberwar policy and strategy developed for a one or two semester class for students of public policy including political science law business etc Although written from a U S perspective most of its contents are globally relevant It is written essentially in four sections The first chapters 1 5 describes how compromises of computers and networks permit unauthorized parties to extract information from such systems cyber espionage and or to force these systems to misbehave in ways that disrupt their operations or corrupt their workings The section examines notable hacks of systems fundamental challenges to cybersecurity e g the lack of forced entry the measure countermeasure relationship including the role of malware and various broad approaches to cybersecurity The second chapters 6 9 describes what government policies can and as importantly cannot be expected to do to improve a nation s cybersecurity thereby leaving leave countries less susceptible to cyberattack by others Among its focus areas are approaches to countering nation scale attacks the cost to victims of broad scale cyberespionage and how to balance intelligence and cybersecurity needs The third chapters 10 15 looks at cyberwar in the context of military operations Describing cyberspace as the 5th domain of warfare feeds the notion that lessons learned from other domains e g land sea apply to cyberspace In reality cyberwar a campaign of disrupting corrupting computers networks is quite different it rarely breaks things can only be useful against a sophisticated adversary competes against cyber espionage and has many first strike characteristics The fourth chapters 16 35 examines strategic cyberwar within the context of state on state relations It examines what strategic cyberwar and threats thereof can do against whom and how countries can respond It then considers the possibility and limitations of a deterrence strategy to modulate such threats covering credibility attribution thresholds and punishment as well as whether denial can deter It continues by examining sub rosa attacks where neither the effects nor the attacker are obvious to the public the role of proxy cyberwar the scope for brandishing cyberattack capabilities including in a nuclear context the role of narrative and signals in a conflict in cyberspace questions of strategic stability and norms for conduct in cyberspace particularly in the context of Sino U S relations and the role played by international law The last chapter considers the future of cyberwar

A Survey on Today's Smartphone Usage Tobias Himmelsbach, 2012-05-26 Diploma Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Computer Science Miscellaneous grade 2 3 Technical University of Berlin Agententechnologien in betrieblichen Anwendungen language English abstract The smartphone market is evolving rapidly irrespective of the well known spread within the business sector In recent years the average users tend to replace their traditional mobile phones PDAs and Palms with smartphones These devices have become a pervasive part of everyday life Dealing with huge amounts of data the mobile device s and application s demand for certain security standards cannot be underestimated In recent studies the individual user s needs in terms of technical features applications etc have not been addressed and analyzed properly To capture the problem in its full extent it is vital to understand the user s expectations Besides the usage patterns have to be described especially against the background of security aspects As mentioned before recent analyzes did not specifically ask what the user expects from a smartphone Hence the main objective of this work is to get a broad picture on how smartphones are used today and what users expect taking into consideration security aspects An international web based online survey was designed and performed to measure and analyze users behaviour when using smartphones with the aim of finding out what they want and expect from a smartphone The main goals were to identify user needs in the context of smartphones to analyze their knowledge and acquisition to security aspects and to get significant data about the user s behaviour The main findings of the survey are that on the one hand most of the users want a smartphone to provide classic mobile phone features such as performing phone calls writing messages or storing contacts On the other hand they want a smartphone to provide mobile
