Teaching Students with Learning Problems in the Inclusive Classroom Lisa Freund,Rebecca Z. Rich,2005 For the K 12 special education methods course for future teachers of students with learning problems Knowing that no one approach to teaching is right for all children all of the time this comprehensive yet accessible case based text presents current best practices with the aim of helping prospective teachers learn to tailor instruction to the diverse needs and abilities of students with learning problems The authors explore the entire inclusion movement and the theories of teaching and learning that inform it discuss the nature of students with learning problems and the characteristics of effective teachers and describe a broad spectrum of proven instructional strategies for all curriculum areas Finally they examine the unique challenges and opportunities that transitions create for students with learning problems University Language Douglas Biber,2006-01-01 University students must cope with a bewildering array of registers not only to learn academic content but also to understand course expectations and requirements While many previous studies have investigated academic writing we know comparatively little about academic speech and no linguistic study to date has investigated the range of academic and advising management registers that students encounter This book is a first step towards filling this gap Based on analysis of the T2K SWAL Corpus the book describes university registers from several different perspectives including vocabularly patterns the use of lexico grammatical and syntactic features the expression of stance the use of extended collocations lexical bundles and a Multi Dimensional analysis of the overall patterns of register variation All linguistic patterns are interpreted in functional terms resulting in an overall characterization of the typical kinds of language that students encounter in university registers academic and non academic spoken and written
