Supplement John Hoggett, 2011-11-21      The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2003      Accounting John Robert Hoggett, 2011-10-11 Accounting has long been the benchmark by which all other introductory accounting textbooks are measured. It is well known as a comprehensive authoritative and reliable textbook that has supported students studying introductory accounting for over 20 years. The clarity of explanation and thorough illustration of the accounting process supports learning and prepares students for future study in commerce and beyond into professional practice. The new edition is ideally suited to accounting and non-accounting majors alike, illustrating accounting procedures and applying accounting information to business and business decision making. Accordingly, changes required under accounting standards and the regulatory environment as a consequence of International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) initiatives and the Conceptual Framework in Financial Reporting have been thoroughly updated in line with recent changes to AIFRS and the Framework. The four-colour design provides students with a more reader-friendly text, enhancing their understanding of concepts and ensuring learning outcomes are achieved. The text builds on the thorough and reliable explanation of the accounting process through the addition of new 'Link to business' chapter vignettes that apply the principles to practice. Previous editions were renowned for the number of exercises and problems, and the new edition builds upon this superior teaching feature. The end-of-chapter activities encourage the development of skills in decision making, critical thinking, ethical thinking, analysis and communication, building student confidence for success in their course.

This book provides an analytical overview of the vast range of historiography which was produced in western Europe over a thousand-year period between c. 400 and c. 1500. Concentrating on the general principles of classical rhetoric central to the language of this writing alongside the more familiar traditions of ancient history, biblical exegesis and patristic theology, this survey introduces the conceptual sophistication and semantic rigour with which medieval authors could approach their narratives of past and present events and the diversity of ends to which this history could then be put. By providing a close reading of some of the historians who put these linguistic principles and strategies into practice, from Augustine and Orosius through Otto of Freising and William of Malmesbury to Machiavelli and Guicciardini, it traces and questions some of the key methodological changes that characterise the function and purpose of the western historiographical tradition in this formative period of its development.
