Addressing Non Tariff Barriers On Regional Trade In:

De-Fragmenting Africa Paul Brenton and Gozde Isik, Africa is not achieving its potential in regional trade This is of particular importance given the uncertainty surrounding the global economy and stagnation in traditional markets in Europe and North America and the emergence of Africa as a rising growth pole The contributions to this volume highlight the enormous scope for increased cross border trade in Africa in both goods and services and the reasons why such opportunities are not being exploited The varied contributions show that for effective regional integration policy makers must look beyond simply removing tariffs to address barriers on the ground that constrain the daily operations of ordinary producers and traders This requires a reform agenda covering both goods and services that puts in place appropriate regulations for integrated markets and builds the capacity of institutions that are essential for trade across borders The incidence of barriers to regional trade fall most heavily on the poor and women and prevents them from exploiting the opportunities that regional trade provides to diversify exports away from a narrow range of minerals and primary products that have been driving recent growth Regional trade can play a key role in delivering the jobs that are needed for Africa s young populations The chapters have been written in a non technical way to promote dialogue on regional integration in Africa amongst a broad audience that includes policy makers officials academics entrepreneurs consumers as well as the international development community

Strengthening Regional Trade Integration in South Asia Owais Hasan Khan,2021-03-05 This book brings forth the philosophical conceptual and practical contours of the trade regionalism provisions under the GATT WTO It analyses SAARC as the regional integration organisation of South Asia along with identifying major challenges and bottlenecks faced by it in the process of achieving regional integration It presents ways and methods through which SAARC can be made a more effective regional organisation The book predominantly focuses on trade regionalism However other areas of integration which have impacts on the trade regionalism are also examined like social and political integrations etc The book takes off from the premise that trade regionalism under SAARC has failed and has been marred by political and security concerns among its member nations It has failed to achieve its objective on all the three counts which are promoting peace development and economic cooperation However with the developing countries as members SAARC has great potential for trade integration Certain structural normative and organisation alteration along with favourable ideation can still make SAARC achieve its full potential The book also deals with the comparative analysis of SAARC regional integration with the regional integration under European Union and ASEAN Regarding comparative regionalism the discussion has been confined only to the EU and ASEAN The EU has been chosen because it is comparatively established as one of the most successful regional organisations in the contemporary world Whereas ASEAN has been chosen because of its similarity to the SAARC s economy society and political structure The analysis presented in the book is from the perspectives of international law and international relations theories and practise This book thus is of particular relevance to the students researchers

International Court Authority Mikael Rask Madsen, 2018-06-28 An innovative interdisciplinary and far reaching examination of the actual reality of international courts International Court Authority challenges fundamental preconceptions about when why and how international courts become important and authoritative actors in national regional and international politics A stellar group of scholars investigate the challenges that international courts face in transforming the formal legal authority conferred by states into an actual authority in fact that is respected by potential litigants national actors legal communities and publics Alter Helfer and Madsen provide a novel framework for conceptualizing international court authority that focuses on the reactions and practices of these key audiences Eighteen scholars from the disciplines of law political science and sociology apply this framework to study thirteen international courts operating in Africa Latin America and Europe as well as on a global level Together the contributors document and explore important and interesting variations in whether the audiences that interact with international courts around the world embrace or reject the rulings of these judicial institutions Alter Helfer and Madsen s authority framework recognizes that international judges can and often do everything they should do to ensure that their rulings possess the gravitas and stature that national courts enjoy Yet even when imbued with these characteristics the parties to the dispute potential future litigants and the broader set of actors that monitor and respond to the court s activities may fail to acknowledge the rulings as binding or take meaningful steps to modify their behaviour in response to them For both specific judicial institutions and more generally the book documents and
