Types of Theft

Stealing and theft have the same meaning, more or less. However, stealing is a more general term, and theft is a more formal legal term. A thief is a person who commits theft. There are many different types of theft.

- pickpocketing: secretly stealing items, usually money or valuables, from a person's pockets or bag.
- robbery: stealing from a person/place (a bank, post office, etc.) by force, violence, or threat of violence.
- burglary: entering a building secretly, usually a home or business, to steal money or other things.
- shoplifting: taking something from a shop without paying for it.

Steal vs. Rob:

Remember that stealing is a general term meaning to take something that doesn't belong to you, while robbery includes the use of force, violence, or the threat of violence. However, there is also another difference when we are using the verbs.

- We steal things (from places or people): He stole money from the woman/bank.
- We rob places or people: He robbed the woman/bank.
