EBK: Services Marketing: Integrating Customer Service Across the Firm 4e Alan Wilson, Valarie Zeithaml, Mary Jo Bitner, Dwayne Gremler, 2020-10-07 Successful businesses recognize that the development of strong customer relationships through quality service and services as well as implementing service strategies for competitive advantage are key to their success. In its fourth European edition, Services Marketing: Integrating Customer Focus across the Firm provides full coverage of the foundations of services marketing, placing the distinctive Gaps model at the center of this approach. The new edition draws on the most recent research and uses up-to-date and topical examples; the book focuses on the development of customer relationships through service, outlining the core concepts and theories in services marketing today. New and updated material in this new edition includes new content related to human resource strategies, including coverage of the role of robots and chatbots for delivering customer-focused services. New coverage on listening to customers through research, big data, netnography, and monitoring user-generated content. Increased technology, social media, and digital coverage throughout the text, including the delivery of services using mobile and digital platforms as well as through the Internet of Things. Brand new examples and case studies added from global and innovative companies, including Turkish Airlines, Volvo EasyJet, and McDonald's. Available with McGraw-Hill's Connect, the well-established online learning platform which features our award-winning adaptive reading experience as well as resources to help faculty and institutions improve student outcomes and course delivery efficiency.

I'm Sorry You Feel That Way Diane Negra, 2026-04-21 This book is about how twenty-first century capitalism is re-making the roles of customer and customer service provider, shedding light on why consumer capitalism has come to feel so punishing for so many. In call centers, banks, airports, universities, public transport systems, hospitals, and other key sites, the intensification of profit imperatives alongside hyper-technologization has generated an antagonistic interface between customers and workers. Consumers widely report feeling trapped in the vise-like grip of frustrating and confounding systems that waste significant amounts of time. Positioning the poorly served customer as the definitional figure of 21st-century commercial relations, Diane Negra articulates a new corporate authoritarianism that allocates a broad range of digital tasks to customers. Essential to this apportionment are technology platforms with high failure rates, corporate devotion to byzantine bureaucratic procedures, and the conspicuous constant valuing of high status customers over low status ones. Compliance with new stripped-down service protocols is enforced not only directly but through powerful norms and customs, and affective culture is notable for converting service encounters into transactions routinely characterized by frustration, impotence, and fury. In analyzing the service ecology and its media representations, I'm Sorry You Feel That Way reveals how the shift to customer work is now both totalized and thoroughly naturalized. As the book maps out the changing nature of the service encounter in day-to-day life and in the cultural imagination, it reveals the emergence of corporate emotions, seldom recognized as the assault on dignity they constitute.
