Talking Sustainability in the Boardroom Heiko Spitzeck, Clarissa Lins, 2018-07-16 A Global CEO study by Accenture and the UN Global Compact has shown that 94% of CEOs think that their board should discuss sustainability And yet there is a real danger that boards are not living up to expectations on sustainability paying lip service to the concept rather than fully embedding social and environmental issues into their strategies and operations Talking Sustainability in the Boardroom sets out why this is the case identifies the obstacles and then explains the opportunities for the long term performance of the organisation that can arise through focusing on social and environmental issues Written by two leading specialists in sustainability who have significant experience of working directly with boards this book presents a very practical framework for embedding sustainability into board conversations and strategies Steps include identifying and prioritising the social and environmental issues that are most pertinent to the organisation and will have the biggest impact on business presenting the competences and skills to enable this guidance on how to structure board meetings to ensure that these conversations truly take place and the development of action plans and tools for measurement

Tesco PLC is the largest food retailer in the UK and its CSR practices need to be examined with respect to its operations activities and products Generally large companies claim their concern and commitment to CSR and announce it elaborately in their reports The claims made by Tesco are different from the ground realities The company claimed to reduce energy consumption and emission of greenhouse gases but could not achieve it for some or other reasons Similarly Tesco claimed to adapt to a compatible process of sourcing of its food products to be sold in its stores The process claimed to investigate and monitor different stages of sourcing sincerely but the recent horse meat scandal revealed that there is a wide gap between the claims and the ground realities The CSR is practiced by most of the companies for building reputation and the objective of the CSR to create value for the society is left behind Banking Yearbook ,2003 Current Law Index ,2007 The Washington Post Index ,2000 Investors Chronicle ,2005
