

STRATEGY AS SIMPLE RULES

Performance goal	Marketing	Long-term investment	strategy
Strategic function	Where should we be?	What should we be?	offensive vs. defensive?
Strategic logic	Establish Position	Leverage Advantages	Market opportunities
Plans built in	Steady state, self-renewing matrix	Adaptively changing, self-renewing matrix	market's behavior, technological change?

When business was simple, companies could afford complex strategies. Now that business is complex, they need to simplify. Smart companies have done that with a new approach. A few straightforward, hard & fast RULES that define direction without confusing it.

TRANSLATE STRATEGY TO SIMPLE RULES

DON'T MAKE THEM TOO BROAD.
"We encourage flexibility & innovation" won't do it. You have to provide CONCRETE guidance.

DON'T MAKE THEM TOO VAGUE.
"All investments must deliver an ROI" won't do it. It does not set priorities.

DON'T LET THEM GO STALE.
Once a rule no longer makes sense, get rid of it.

How-to-rules

spell out key features of how a process is executed - what makes the process unique

Staff must consist of technical experts, every question must be answered on the first call or email, and KAO staff must rotate through customer service

Boundary-rules

focus managers on which opportunities to pursue + which are outside the pale

Companies to be acquired must have no more than 75 employees, 75% of them must be engineers

Priority-rules

help managers rank the accepted opportunities

manufacturing capacity allocation is based on a product's gross margin

Timing-rules

synchronize managers with the pace of emerging opportunities within other parts of the company project teams must leave when a product must be delivered to a leading customer to win, and the development time must be less than 18 months

Exit-rules

help managers decide when to pull out of yesterday's opportunities

if a key team member - manager or not - chooses to leave the project for another within the company, the project is killed

DON'T MAKE THEM aimless
These are execution rules in cultures that destroy value. "Everyone has a say" can slow you down. And out the window, execution rules!
