A New Look for Europe

Section 4

Directions: Read the paragraphs below and study the maps carefully. Then answer the questions that follow.

In 1919, a peace conference to formally end World War I was held at the Palace of Versailles near Paris. President Wilson, leading the U.S. delegation, led a plan, called the Fourteen Points, that he hoped would restore stability to Europe.

Of Wilson's points, eight dealt with boundary changes intended to allow European ethnic groups to decide their national identities. A similar goal called for the formation of a League of Nations to oversee world peace.

However, Wilson's idealism clashed with hatred and fear. The French government had lived through two German invasions of its country, and he was determined to prevent that from happening again. The British prime minister had just won reelection with the slogan "Make Germany Pay." His committee members, the conference did not include officials of the defeated countries, and Russia and the smaller Allied nations were excluded.

The Treaty of Versailles created nine new nations and changed the boundaries of others. (Shortly thereafter, in 1922–1923, the Soviet Union and Turkey came into being.) But the treaty failed to establish a lasting peace. The U.S. Senate never ratified the treaty because of fears that membership in the League would drag the United States into future European quarrels. Many Americans blame the flawed Treaty for creating the conflicts and resentments that culminated in the 1930s and led to World War II.
