Anxiety Relief High Yield Savings Best:

Your Brain vs. The Market Joseph Trek, 2026-02-27 Have you ever wondered why smart people consistently do dumb things with their money The truth is your worst financial enemy isn't the economy the media or Wall Street it is your own biology Millions of people sabotage their wealth every day because the primal instincts that kept our ancestors alive are entirely backwards for modern investing If you are an everyday investor a frustrated saver or anyone tired of buying high and selling low this book is your ultimate survival guide Inside you will discover why the pain of a financial loss stings twice as much as the joy of a gain secretly forcing you to hold losing investments while selling winners too early You will explore the dangerous mirage of market timing how gamified trading apps hijack your dopamine and why chasing yesterday's hot stock guarantees tomorrow's disappointment By mapping the predictable patterns of human irrationality you will finally recognize the invisible behavioral traps quietly draining your portfolio What sets this guide apart is its complete lack of academic jargon Blending relatable storytelling with hard hitting behavioral science it trades confusing math for actionable psychology You will walk away with practical automated systems to protect your wealth from market chaos and more importantly from yourself The United States Army and Navy Journal and Gazette of the Regular and Volunteer Forces ,1906
