Day Al Kennedy:

Day A. L. Kennedy, 2008-01-08 Funny and moving wise and sad this imaginative tour de force The San Diego Union Tribune charts the intensity and courage found in a former World War II POW as he looks back on the closeness of death from one of Britain's most iconoclastic and highly acclaimed young writers Alfie Day RAF airman and former World War II POW never expected to survive the war Now five years later and more alone than ever Alfie finds himself drawn to unearth those strange passionate days by working as an extra on a POW film What he will discover on the set about himself his loves and the world around him will make the war itself look simple

On Writing A. L. Kennedy, 2014 At the core of On Writing is the hugely popular blog that A L Kennedy writes for the Guardian and we follow her during a 3 year period when she finished one collection of stories and started another and wrote a novel in between Readers and aspiring writers will have almost everything they need to know about the complexities of researching writing and publishing fiction but they will be receiving this wisdom conversationally from one of the funniest and most alert of our contemporary authors

Writing and Tauromachy in A. L. Kennedy's "On Bullfighting", 2015-03-25 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1.0 University of Frankfurt Main Institut für England und Amerikastudien course A L Kennedy Fiction language English abstract The coat of arms that is currently depicted on the Spanish flag may feature a lion as a heraldic animal but during the past centuries of Iberian cultural history the taurine brute especially the so called Toro de Osborne Brandes 780-781 has become the country's unofficial more popular and widely known trademark symbol ibid This development is of course rooted in the nation's continuous passion for the bullfight and along with the flamenco dance the custom performance of tauromachy remains a pillar of patriotic identity for many Spaniards It comes as no surprise then that the corrida features heavily in a wide selection of publications of virtually all literary genres Among the more recent works in this field Alison Louise Kennedy's On Bullfighting provides an introduction to the past and present of the tauromachy tradition and combines it with the Scottish novelist's perspective on the act of literary composition as a non-fictional version of Kennedy narrates her progress in researching and writing about the corrida to the reader The following pages explore how she establishes parallels between the routines passions and beliefs of the literary artist and the matador respectively and then uses them to underline how both are devoted to exerting and expanding a level of control in their approaches to life and work For the writer this is particularly relevant with regards to his or her handling of inspiration and its implementation in the written word and the paper therefore closes with remarks on whether or not On Bullfighting's A L Kennedy succeeds in regaining her authoritative power over both aspects of her profession as she struggles through depression and a severe writer's block connected to past emotional trauma

Women's Fiction and Post-9/11 Contexts Peter Childs, Claire Colebrook, Sebastian Groes, 2014-10-21 9-11 is not simple a date on the calendar but marks a distinct historical threshold ushering in the war on terror various states of emergency a supposed clash of civilizations and the putative legitimation of counter democratic procedures ranging from extraordinary renditions to enhanced interrogation Perhaps no date since Virginia Woolf declared that on or about December 1910 human character changed has marked such a singular point in the perception of time identity and nature Women s writing has always been something of a counter canon offering modes of voice and point of view beyond that of the man of reason This collection of essays explores the two problems of what it means to write as a woman and what it means to write in the twenty first century

Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 James Acheson, 2017-01-17 Focuses on the novels published since 2000 by twenty major British novelists The Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 is divided into five parts with the first part examining the work of four particularly well known and highly regarded twenty first century writers Ian McEwan David Mitchell Hilary Mantel and Zadie Smith It is with reference to each of these novelists in turn that the terms realist apostmodernist ahistorical and apostcolonialist fiction are introduced while in the remaining four parts other novelists are discussed and the meaning of the terms amplified From the start it is emphasised that these terms and others often mean different things to different novelists and that the complexity of their novels often obliges us to discuss their work with reference to more than one of the terms Also discusses the works of Maggie O Farrell Sarah Hall A L Kennedy Alan Warner Ali Smith Kazuo Ishiguro Kate Atkinson Salman Rushdie Adam Foulds Sarah Waters James Robertson Mohsin Hamid Andrea Levy and Aminatta Forna
