In Pursuit of Gold Sue Fawn Chung, 2011-08-01 Both a history of an overlooked community and a well rounded reassessment of prevailing assumptions about Chinese miners in the American West In Pursuit of Gold brings to life in rich detail the world of turn of the century mining towns in the Northwest Sue Fawn Chung meticulously recreates the lives of Chinese immigrants miners merchants and others who populated these towns and interacted amicably with their white and Native American neighbors defying the common perception of nineteenth century Chinese communities as insular enclaves subject to increasing prejudice and violence While most research has focused on Chinese miners in California this book is the first extensive study of Chinese experiences in the towns of John Day in Oregon and Tuscarora Island Mountain and Gold Creek in Nevada Chung illustrates the relationships between miners and merchants within the communities and in the larger context of immigration arguing that the leaders of the Chinese and non Chinese communities worked together to create economic interdependence and to short circuit many of the hostilities and tensions that plagued other mining towns Peppered with fascinating details about these communities from the intricacies of Chinese gambling games to the techniques of hydraulic mining In Pursuit of Gold draws on a wealth of historical materials including immigration records census manuscripts legal documents newspapers memoirs and manuscript collections Chung supplements this historical research with invaluable first hand observations of artifacts that she experienced in archaeological digs and restoration efforts at several of the sites of the former booming mining towns In clear analytical prose Chung expertly characterizes the movement of Chinese miners into Oregon and Nevada the heyday of their mining efforts in the region and the decline of the communities due to changes in the mining industry Highlighting the positive experiences and friendships many of the immigrants had in these relatively isolated mining communities In Pursuit of Gold also suggests comparisons with the Chinese diaspora in other locations such as British Columbia and South Africa The New International Year Book ,1911
