Tourism and the Spectre of Unlimited Change Hazel Tucker, 2024-02-05 This insightful volume forms a sequel to Living with Tourism Negotiating Identities in a Turkish Village tracking the tourism development and associated social change in the small town of Greme in

Turkey's Cappadocia region within the last two decades. Carefully crafted chapters explore the significant changes in the tourism forms, place identity, and social relations in the town. On one level, tourism business and Greme's living with tourism has matured and thrived; the place has due largely to its booming hot air ballooning sector become an Instagram sensation. Some Greme families have become very wealthy, and tourism has enabled many local women as well as men to craft new selves. On another level, new inequalities and tensions constantly emerge: some families remain poor, gentrification and hotel developments in the older cave house neighbourhoods have led to the disintegration of community, and many people, including those who are now wealthy, talk often with a sense of nostalgia and regret about what Greme has become. This book is a groundbreaking longitudinal account recounting the story of the place and people of Greme still living with tourism after 40 years, showing how broader contemporary tourism trends such as changes in tourism markets and use of digital technology and increased security fears manifest at the local level in tourism destinations. This book provides new insights for scholars of tourism, anthropology, geography, and social studies who wish to gain a deeper understanding of this global phenomenon in the contemporary world.

For most of my life, I just took it as the way things were, a fact not worth interrogating, since it was so obviously true. For her entire life, Lucinda's mission was to look as hot as possible. She nipped, tucked, bleached, cut, plucked, plumped, shaved, lasered, tanned, crunched, squatted, and starved. Then she broke. All I Ever Wanted Was to Be Hot is a funny, provocative retrospective on the last thirty years of Western beauty standards. From Victoria's Secret to Extreme Makeover, Playboy Bunnies to the Australian media's fascination with Lara Bingle, Lucinda unfurls the tentacles of a culture hellbent on making women feel like happiness is always just five kilos away.
